UNHAPPY DRIVERS SPLIT

Northgate Transit Corporation bus drivers, mostly independent owner-operators, are still running their buses on Daly City routes, but a dispute between them and bus company franchise holders could disrupt service to thousands of local residents.

Bus Drivers' Dispute Threatens DC Service

By FRANK LaPIERRE

A growing dispute between Northgate Transit Corporation — holders of a franchise to operate in Daly City and San Francisco — and 20 of its 21 drivers has thus far not interupted service to riders.

However, unless both sides in the disagreement can come to a meeting of the minds soon, many BART patrons will be left stranded at their doorsteps.

Greyhound Bus Company Monday walked off the job and an increase in Northgate's riders was noted immediately.

Without the community bus service, which gets its franchise from the State Public Utilities Commission (PUC), many citizens will be without rides to and from work, shopping and home.

The Post learned last week that a majority of the Northgate drivers have secured the services of San Pablo consultant Mateo Mattheus.

Mattheus said the newly-formed Daly City Transit Company has already filed a complaint with the PUC asking for permission to operate routes in Daly City.

Most of Northgate's buses are owner-operated.

Mattheus charged that Northgate's general manager, C. E. Paniagrio, "is keeping these drivers in servitude" and they are "sick and tired of this."

Northgate Transit holds an inter-city franchise issued by the PUC. In turn, the company "leases" its routes to the independent owner-operators.

There is no cost to the city for this bus service.

The company charges drivers $140 monthly for insurance; $25 per week for "dues", and $25 monthly for use of the corporation's yard.

"The insurance has never been seen by most of the drivers. Those that have seen it don't understand what the coverage is," Mattheus said.

There have been meetings scheduled between Mattheus and Northgate, but no concrete formula on resolving the issue has been reached.

N. County Doctor Loses Reinstatment Plea

The San Mateo County Civil Service Commission has upheld the action in which the chief psychiatrist at the North County Mental Health Center was demoted because he declined to assume administrative duties.

In its decision, the commission says that it is not in accord with the contention of the Union of American Physicians that Dr. Jorge Werbin was subjected to intimidation and coercion when he met with Dr. Floyd Wylie, chief of the center, Oct. 11 to discuss Wylie's request that Werbin assume additional administrative functions or otherwise apply for a voluntary demotion or resign.

Following the meeting, Werbin declined to obey the order. On Oct. 15, he received a notice that he was being demoted from chief of psychiatric services to staff psychiatrist.

The commission's report of its findings notes that on Oct. 17, the union filed a notice with the commission claiming that the county purposefully excluded the union from the Oct. 11 meeting between Werbin and Wylie.

The report says that Werbin testified in the commission hearing he did not request that a representative of the union be present at his Oct. 11 meeting with Wylie, nor did Wylie give notice of the meeting to the union.

"If there was any desire on the part of the employe to have the union present at the Oct. 11 meeting, he should have communicated that fact to the union and/or to the county, and the union would have takes appropriate steps to represent its member, even if that involved being at a meeting to which it had not been specifically invited . . . ." the commission report states.

The report goes on to state that "there is no evidence whatever that on Oct. 11, or any other date, there was any intimidation or coercion of the employe."

The commission report, noting the failure of the union to demand attendance at the meeting, and the failure of Werbin to request a representative, states:

"Equity will not aid one who sleeps on his rights. Similarly, this commission will not come to the aid of an employe or a union whose own failure was at least partially responsible for the action of which it later complains."

Reference was also made to an amended union unfair employe relations practice charge brought following an Oct. 21 meeting in which county representatives met with employes of the center and used "accusatory language," including a remark by County Director of Health and Welfare Dr. George Pickett relating to Werbin's grievance.

Testimony substantiates the remark, the commission report says, calling it "ill-timed and unfortunate."

"In this commission's opinion similar references should be avoided in any future statements by county personnel," the report says. Pickett had referred to a "beef" Werbin had with the county.

OPERATION SANTA CLAUS

Mayor McRobert Stewart (center) signs proclamations encouraging Daly City citizens to support Operation Santa Claus, while Santa and Pete Markovich (left) look on. Operation Santa Claus is a community project wherein Daly City residents share with those less fortunate at Christmas time. The operation is in its 25th year. For a quarter of a century the people of Daly City, the City, service clubs such as the Lions and Rotary, churches, merchants, schools and children have worked together to see that everyone enjoys Christmas. Those wishing to help may send donations to the Chamber of Commerce Office, 6767 Mission Street, Daly City, CA 94014.

Daly City May Get Community Projects Grant

Daly City may be on its way toward getting some $3.8 million in federal grants for community development programs, city manager David Rowe told the City Council Monday.

The monies would lump into one grant what previously was covered by several, it was understood.

Programs the money can be used for include urban beautification and renewal, parks and streets, plus other projects related to upgrading the city.

One of the city's first acts was to hire Dennis Porter, an expert on application and administration of federal funds, for six months, Rowe said.

Porter is expected to draft plans on how the money will be spent by the city.

This outline then will be sent — by Dec. 16 — to the city's Planning Commission for public hearings and input.

Following two such public hearings before the Planning Commission and council, Rowe hopes to forward the documents to the Association of Bay Area Governments (ABAG) in early April.

It will then be sent to the State Office of Planning for action.

Once approval is given by these two agencies the application for funds under the Community Development Block Act will be passed on to the federal agencies concerned.

The only snag thus far, Porter said, is that Congress has not yet appropriated any money for the ambitious program.

Cities of over 50,000 population are eligible for the money.

City Planner John Walker noted that Daly City's increase in minority population, coupled with the general growth trend in the city and an increase in welfare case loads, makes the city highly eligible for funds under the program.

The money would be disbursed over the next six years, starting next year.

According to Housing and Urban Development (HUD) estimates, Daly City will be eligible for $211,000 in 1975; $502,000 in 1976; $765,000 in 1977, and the remainder in similar steps until the final figure of $3.8 million is reached.

The city may draw up to 10 per cent of the first year's monies to pay for planning costs — some $20,000.

Woman Survives Plunge Near Devil's Slide

A Montara woman, driving through heavy rain on Highway 1 late Sunday evening, apparently lost control of her car and plunged some 100 yards over the cliff about two miles north of Devil's Slide.

The woman, Ruth Ann Riccardi, 33, of 575 Fifth St., lay pinned in the wreckage until about 7:30 Monday morning, when a highway patrolman spotted the car, while on routine patrol.

Miss Riccardi was treated Wednesday at Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City for lacerations and multiple bruises over her body, among other injuries.

Hospital aides listed Miss Riccardi this morning as in stable condition.

Highway Patrolman Fred Girdler, said he was driving on Highway 1, when he saw tire tracks leaving the road in the southbound lane and decided to investigate.

Peering over the steep incline, Girdler spotted a late model American compact car some 100 yards off the roadway. The car was demolished.

He said he called for emergency units, then climbed down the hill to search for occupants. He found Miss Riccardi lying in the back section of the small vehicle. She apparently had been knocked to the rear of the car as it turned end-over-end after leaving the roadway.

Girdler ventured Miss Riccardi had been trapped in the car since shortly before midnight.

He said Miss Riccardi was driving south up an incline on the Coast Highway near the Linda Mar Shopping Center, when she apparently lost control on a curve and plunged over the side.

Council Shuns Linear Park Plans

The Colma Creek flood control project is no place for a park.

This appeared to be the concensus Monday night of the South San Francisco City Council and Parks & Recreation Commission, meeting in a joint study session.

A park, with biking and hiking paths bordering the canal, had been suggested by the engineers designing the enlarged flood control canal. The flood control district wanted to know the city's policies.

One plan would have included a ledge in the canal, along which the paths would have run.

"The creek has a potential of killing people," City Manager Ed Alario declared. "Anybody falling in while the canal is running full would not drown. He'd be dashed to death."

He noted that one little girl was drowned eight years ago.

"It's surprising there haven't been more," he said.

Alario noted that in some stretches of the canal, tidal action can fill it 12 feet deep.

"The plans for the linear park are beautiful," Alario conceded, "but it shows no fences. I wonder who would take the responsibility for deaths."

He said he would never bicycle alongside the canal, since at least one stretch along North Canal Street barely has room for trucks when they pull out of their garages.

"Let's forget the linear park," said Dick Milkovich, director of parks and recreation, "and underground the canal as it goes through Orange Park."

(Related Story Page 4)

In other business, Milkovich reported that the new senior citizens quarters on Grand Avenue were about to open. Plans call for an expanded senior citizen program.

The center would be open daily, and eventually on Saturdays. In addition to regular club meetings, crafts, games and other activities would be set up.

Councilman Irked Over Cost of SSF Arbor

A proposed arbor over benches where senior citizens congregate on the South San Francisco City Hall grounds, may evoke some remarks at tonight's City Council meeting.

Tempers flared Monday, when the proposal was hashed over at a joint study session of the City Council and the Parks and Recreation Commission.

"This has got to be one of the biggest jokes I have ever seen," Councilman Leo Padreddii declared, waving a thick report.

A request for a simple shelter has ballooned into a $30,000 project, with a clubhouse and coffee-maker, Padreddii recounted. The council sent back the plans and asked for just a simple shelter, costing $6,000-$8,000.

"It's up to $20,000 again," he declared.

"All they wanted was to be sheltered from the sun and protected from the birds, Councilman Dick Battaglia added.

Padreddii also criticized the year's wait for the council since the senior citizens first requested the shelter.

Mayor Terry Mirri said he wanted the entire project built as shown by the plans.

"We ought to start doing things right in this city," he declared.

Dick Milkovich, director of Parks and Recreation, was asked to explain how the costs ballooned.

He showed a series of plans.

"The arbor site is located at the critical corner of the City Hall. It is the first portion of the civic center that one sees as he comes up Grand Avenue. We just can't put anything there. It has, at least, to be in keeping with the Victorian architecture of the City Hall."

The arbor as proposed would consist of a series of beams resting upon eight brick pillars. Additional brickwork would create a plaza effect. The arbor would include the updated restroom building. The benches would have room for 24 persons. There would be space allowed for tables, should the city wish to add them.

The project would also include a permanent drinking fountain, in small structure. The present fountain, he said, has been condemned.

Coming to the support of the bigger project was City Mgr. Ed Elario, who admitted that he had initially opposed it.

"It would set the tone for future civic center development," he declared. "Maybe it's just the thing to spur Grand Avenue (merchants) to dress up their store exteriors."

Two Arrested in Daly City Restaurant Robbery

It takes a lot of nerve to walk into a crowded restaurant, ask directions to the manager's office, hold him up and walk calmly out of the building.

It takes even more intestinal fortitude to go to a movie next door to the same restaurant the next night.

Daly City officers claim that is exactly what two men — George Arthur Pierce, 30, an unemployed truck driver, and Jerald Michael Long, 32, a mechanic — did on two successive nights last week.

According to police, one of the pair walked into the recently opened Peppermill Restaurant in the Serramonte Plaza business area shortly fefore 11 p.m. last Wednesday and threatened manager Dennis Porter with two handguns.

He then fled with more than $6,000 in cash from a safe.

Thursday night, a witness to the robbery spotted the alleged robber entering the Plaza Theater with a male companion.

Police were called and the building surrounded. One officer went inside to observe the two men.

When the movie was over, police moved in and apprehended the pair.

It was learned by police the men lived in a nearby apartment building.

JESD Tax Override?

The failure of 16 Bay Area surbaban school districts to pass measures aimed at easing their increasing money woes was "not very promising," according to Superintendent Herbert Hemington of the Jefferson Elementary School District, which is considering placing a similar proposition on the ballot next March.

Hemington said the dismal results came because people are hurting in the pocketbook, adding that the success of a tax override for JESD would hinge on whether the situation changes by the spring.

A citizens committee is currently studying the district's financial picture, and Hemington said it will make a recommendation either for or against the measure by Dec. 1.

The 16 measures that were defeated asked to raise revenue limits, which are based on the average daily attendance. One of those was the South San Francisco Unified School District.

Two measures passed in Santa Clara County, but only by the slim margins of 14 and 42 votes.

Fire Damages Daly City Home

Fire in a Daly City home Tuesday night caused an estimated $14,000 damage and drove a family of eight into the streets.

No one was injured.

The fire broke out about 9:11 p.m. as Francisco Galamay was working in the garage at 48 Miriam St.

A daughter, Marlene, fled from an attic bedroom with her 1½-year-old daughter.

Galamay's elderly mother, Flora, his wife, Matilde, and two daughters — Teresita, 14, and Mary Ann, 12—ran from the home as it began filling with smoke.

Water Rate Increase OK'd

The San Francisco Board of Supervisors Monday approved a 17.4 per cent increase in water rates for city and suburban residents.

The supervisors had previously sought to establish a higher increase for suburban users of San Francisco water.

The board, however, approved the equal water rate increase Monday by a 6-to-5 vote. Water bills will consequently go up early next year, according to Arthur H. Frye, general manager of the Water Department.

Frye estimated that the 17.4 per cent boost will increase the average water bill by 49 cents per month.

The San Francisco board grudgingly approved the equal water rate increase after a federal judge granted a preliminary injunction against the board's previous proposal for a 20.5 per cent hike in suburban water bills and only a 14.5 per cent increase for San Francisco residents.

The injunction was granted after Peninsula officials objected to the discriminatory water rates.

Frye told the supervisors that the resulting delays in raising the water rates had already cost his department about $1.9 million.

Knowledge of Cars 'Pays Off'

It had been anticipated when this series on the San Mateo County economy started several weeks ago, that a personal profile of a typical family's method for battling inflation would be included in each article.

This proved true of foodstuffs, clothing, leisure time and other articles, to date.

However, though we scoured the North County we could not find any "typical family" when it came to repairing and servicing vehicles.

Instead, we determined, after talking to numerous persons on this matter, that while gasoline, repairs and costs of parts has naturally escalated with everything else, it made little difference how and where their vehicles were maintained.

Feast or famine, people who work on their own cars do so (1) because they do save some money in labor charges, and (2) because they like working on cars.

For the most part, these same people have for many years performed minor maintenance service and repairs, not only on their family cars, but sometimes for friends, it was learned.

Others said they knew how to perform these services, however, preferred to take their cars to a mechanic for work.

This "working knowledge" of cars does pay off, they say.

If their vehicle breaks down on a highway, they can perform minor repairs — perhaps enough to get it to a t service station.

And during professional servicing, they know and understand what is being done, thereby curbing any attempts to bilk them.

This mechanical awareness does help stretch the family budget, many claim.

There are, of course, exceptions to methods used by various families to combat inflation.

But it is a fact that inflation has had some beneficial effect on the people — by forcing them to spend their money wisely.

In the automotive field, motorists are letting cars go further between spark plug, oil, filters and air cleaner changes.

Even tires are being held onto a little longer.

During these inflationary times, some service stations and repair shops claim business is down.

"Moonlighters" are blamed for this.

Rather than bring cars into a licensed garage for necessary service, some people often seek out a friend who has a working knowledge of mechanics — and who will charge them a lot less than the going rate.

Willie Kellner, manager of a Daly City Shell station, said "I've been kept pretty busy patching up botched jobs on cars."

While some repair shops have had a noticeable drop in business, others are doing fairly well, it was learned.

Overall, repair shops and service stations conducting repairs are keeping their heads well above water.

Another item worthy of note is that an increasing number of women are attending adult automotive classes throughout the county.

An example is the six classes being attended by some 204 adults — half of them women — in the Jefferson Union High School District.

There is a waiting list for the next classes we were told.

—Frank LaPierre.

Bus Drivers

tract between drivers and Northgate.

Paniagrio allegedly has hired, fired and rehired drivers at will since he joined the company some eight months ago, Mattheus said.

Paniagrio denies these allegations.

He said only three men were terminated and he has been seeking qualified drivers to replace them.

To date, Northgate has "imported" four buses from South Lake Tahoe to replace any that might decide to stop servicing routes.

Paniagrio said he has qualified drivers to operate these buses, that they have all been checked out, and; that he intends to continue bringinl in buses from other areas.

Asked what caused the present turmoil, Paniagrio said he did not fully understand the reasons behind the drivers restlessness, but allowed "there have been some unusual disturbances among drivers."

Daly City officials have remained neutral in the dispute, obviously preferring to take a "wait and see" posture.

Mattheus has already set up offices at 50 Templeton St., Daly City. He said once the new company gets organized he intends to install radios in all buses.

"In the past, when a bus broke down, we had no way of knowing where he was, or what the trouble was, until another bus passed him and relayed a message to the office.

"With the radios we will be able to fill in any gaps immediately," Mattheus said.

Meanwhile, Frank Ortega has been named manager of the newly formed company.

The company already has applied to both the PUC and Daly City for business permits and operating franchises.

Northgate, has long been the center of controversy and criticism.

Some eight years ago they were called before the PUC and ordered to bring their vehicles up to minimum safety standards.

In recent years, maintenance of the vehicles has improved.

With the opening of the Bay Area Rapid Transit station in Daly City the company has enjoyed additional revenues generated by thousands of commuters that use the rapid transit trains daily.

Sales of New Cars are Suffering

By FRANK LaPIERRE

The more you study the inflation picture, the less you understand it. It's a confusing montage of skyrocketing prices, unemployment, some soars and dips in sales, and "experts" who continually talk about what's going on.

And like the weather, they talk and talk, but apparently can't do anything about it.

In the automotive field, as an example, sales of new cars (1975) are shatteringly down. But sales of used cars are up.

Ask a dozen outo dealers in the North County about this, and you're likely to get a dozen different answers about why this is happening.

The facts are clear, however; auto sales are being hurt badly.

While sales of new cars are dropping like a rock, sales of good used cars are climbing.

A North County car salesman, who asked not to be identified, said, "It's hard to get good used cars in trade. We have a market for them."

It was explained that many persons are merely trading for "newer models" and not for new cars. A person may simply trade his car in for a newer car, putting off that purchase of a brand new car until the overall market straightens out.

Also, sales of boats, motorcycles and airplanes were up 35.6 per cent of the first quarter of this year. In the first quarter of 1973 sales of such items experienced only nominal gains over the year before.

Fewer new car sales, means more layoffs at the production end.

To illustrate this trend in declining sales:

• In the first quarter of 1973 (according to the State Board of Equalization) new car sales totaled some $51,930,000 in the state.

• Used cars enjoyed sales of $2,882,000, while auto supplies amounted to $4,348,000. Service stations sold some $27,627,000 worth of services and gasoline.

In comparison, the first quarter of this year revealed new car sales down $8,242,000 to $43,688,000.

Auto supplies rose to $4,940,000 — up more than a half-million dollars.

Service stations recorded a dramatic increase in dollar sales, perhaps due to the higher price of gasoline, to $31,839,000.

And used cars dropped slightly from the previous period by some $1,558,000. Since this report was published, gains have been made in the sale of used cars, while sales in related fields have fallen off.

Daly City could easily be used to better illustrate what is happening throughout the state.

In the first quarter of 1973, San Mateo County's second largest city, with its population of some 70,000 boasted 33 service stations registering $2.19 million in sales and service.

That number has dropped to 21 stations, with receipts of $1,449 million.

In 1973, Daly City had 34 new and used auto dealers ringing up $5.5 million. This year that number has dropped to 10 dealers showing sales down by some $1,889,000 — to $3,611,000.

Statistics indicate motorists are not giving in to "travel fever," thus conserving money which would likely be used for gasoline and other car costs.

Service stations are still pumping gasoline, but while gallonage pumped is down, revenue for these stations has increased.

Everyone blames the Arab oil embargo and the rising cost of labor and auto accessories for these higher gasoline costs.

The Board of Equlization notes:

• Gasoline distributions (statewide) totalling 2,228 million gallons were 9.4 per cent less (in 1974) than the volume sold in the first three months of 1973.

• Motorists curtailed their consumption of gasoline more stringently each successive month . . . in response to governmental pleas to voluntarily cut back on fuel usage. The gasoline reductions become increasingly significant considering that the number of registered motor vehicles in the state had increased by 3.4 per cent, since the first quarter of 1973 . . . from 11,728,100 to 12,131,400."

The report, issued in June, points out that non-durable items, such as gasoline, surpassed the growth of durable items in sales.

Service stations recorded the highest gain (29.1 per cent) "whose increase of $299 million was nearly as much as the decrease noted for new car dealers."

Public transit systems are apparently attracting patrons.

The Bay Area Rapid Transit District (BART) is now shuttling some 115,000 riders daily throughout its 71-mile system.

This ridership figure rose considerably with the opening of BART's Transbay Tube under the Bay last September

Prior to the opening, BART attracted some 70,000 riders daily.

This figure shot up to 85,000 during the gasoline shortages of last spring.

Shortly after the transbay tube opened, the AC Transit Company, serving east-west commuters via the Bay Bridge, went out on strike.

BART's daily ridership figures went to about 73,000.

In subsequent months, an increasing number of commuters "discovered" BART.

Southern Pacific's Peninsula commute line has not enjoyed any great increase in patronage.

A spokesman for the company said there was a minimal burst of business during the gasoline shortage.

SP's commuters total about 10,000 individuals — a figure that has been evidenced for the past several years.

In the mid-fifties, SP registered some 16,000 daily individual riders.

This was before highways between the county and San Francisco were improved.

Freeway 280 opened and figures again dipped, according to the spokesman.

There have been shallow bursts in volume — up and down — in recent months, due to transit strike, gas shortages and improved highways.

There has been no prolonged effects, either way, it was explained.

SP trainsare running at 85 per cent capacity, the spokesman said.

Proposition A, which voters passed by a narrow margin on Nov. 5, perhaps expressed a desire by Peninsula residents to get something rolling on a widespread mass transit district basis.

This, if true, can be interpreted as having an impact on all phases of the automotive business in the future.

'More Questions Than Answers'

S. Bruno Mountain Park Hearings Slated

A series of additional meetings on a proposed regional park on the south side of San Bruno Mountain was scheduled by the county's Park and Recreation Commission Wednesday when a hearing on three alternative proposals brought out more questions than answers.

After a hearing of more than four hours in the County Government Center in Redwood City, commissioners agreed to:

• Hold a meeting at 2 p.m. on November 26 at which staff members from the park and recreation and planning departments and five spokesmen from interested groups will be allowed to speak.

•A second public hearing on December 11 at Hillside School in South San Francisco.

•A third meeting on January 8, again in Redwood City.

At Wednesday's afternoon meeting, Del Davis and Reed Dillingham, two consultants hired by the county, explained the three alternate plans now before the commission:

•A minimal development which would concentrate on preservation of the natural landscape with a minimum intrusion of facilities and would cost an estimated $1,100,000.

•An "Alternative B," with "a moderate development with the principal orientation of the park to be preservation of the natural landscape." Facilities would be developed "to allow a wide majority of the public to see and use the park's existing natural features." Estimated cost of this plan was placed at $1,800,000.

•Alternative C, which would be developed "because the park is the largest single open space serving northern San Mateo County and the southern portion of San Francisco — both with substantial population." Estimated cost was given as $2,400,000.

Davis termed San Bruno Mountain as "a very unique feature" that is the "dominant feature of the north county. It serves as a backdrop to most north county cities."

He noted the mountain has a variety of "micro-weather zones," where the yearly rainfall varies from 14 to 20 inches, and has 13 unique species of plants that grow nowhere else.

Mrs. Elle Larsen, representing the Peninsula regional group of the Sierra Club, maintained, "There is a number of questions that need answers.

"What we have seen today is an island completely isolated," she asserted. "I have never seen any planning on this basis. The community might be interested in what is going around this island."

Davis answered that the park must be recognized as an island and preserved as an island.

Mrs. Larsen said she understood an environmental impact report is being prepared which has some eight alternatives, and asked how these are related to population pressures.

She quoted from a 1969 county master plan which said a regional park of 350 acres plus 1,000 acres of open space "is urgently needed in the northern part of the county.

"I wonder if the proposal we've seen today will serve the needs of the sixties?" she asked. "The saddle area is no longer planned for recreation use. I wonder why this is so?"

"This is one of our most valuable assets," John T. Brook, county parks and recreation director, commented. "But it is also a problem area. We felt we should best preserve its most valuable properties. That is why we planned for south of the Guadalupe Parkway."

In answer to a question of Mrs. Larsen about water tanks on the mountain, Davis answered that plans are being discussed for four four-million-gallon tanks.

"Park space should be held inviolate," Mrs. Larsen retorted.

"There was talk of a buffer zone at the Guadalupe Parkway," Mrs. Betty Higgens of South San Francisco said. "This was adopted by the supervisors. I do not see this."

Davis said " a corridor study" had been recommended along the parkway after Brook agreed Mrs. Higgens was correct.

"I live in the north end of the county, and we live in an impacted area and the people are concerned," Mrs. Higgens continued. "I live in South San Francisco, and you can go into Orange Avenue Park any day and see the people armpit to armpit."

She questioned about a proposal to develop bike trails down the steep, southern side of the mountain, and asked what might happen to a 10-year-old boy riding down the trail.

At a meeting two months ago, Mrs. Helen Sullivan of South San Francisco charged, "The people came out and said, 'It ain't enough. Don't box us in.' How do we know if we can even afford this land? Has an appraisal been made?"

"There are too many unanswered questions, or you just don't understand this. I feel like this is being planned down our throats."

Mrs. Higgens said she had gone to the planning commission and heard that commercial recreation, such as equestrian facilities proposed for the park, might be developed on the northern side of the mountain.

"This is all we have," Mrs. Higgens appealed. "We can't go to Tahoe. We can go to San Francisco and use their parks. No wonder they flip."

She asked what will happen to a 4-H Club Ranch now on the mountain.

"In Brisbane we have one park — about the size of a postage stamp," Albert Duro, a member of the Brisbane Citizens Advisory Committee, said. "I cannot be satisfied with this park as it is. I do not think it is enough."

Another Brisbane resident, David Schooley, complained that the parks and recreation staff had been working with the developers and assuming a plan would be accepted.

"There are a lot of questions I would like to ask," Commissioner Robert Spillers commented, suggesting that the additional meetings be held.

Beaten DC Worker Wins Case

A Daly City steelworker, injured in a scuffle with three San Francisco policemen three years ago, has been awarded $264,500 by a San Francisco Superior Court jury.

The jury of five men and seven women decided in favor of awarding Lawrence Candler the money after witnesses told of how three San Francisco policemen beat Candler, causing permanent brain damage.

Candler's car almost smashed into a car containing police officers Cornelius Lucey and William Gay at the corner of Lincoln Way and Sixth Avenue on March 20, 1971.

Candler followed the officers' car to a stoplight and exchanged words with them.

Witnesses told the Superior Court jury that the two officers pulled Candler from his car and were arguing with him when a third policeman drove up and joined the dispute.

The subsequent beating Candler took at the hands of the three men has left him permanently disabled, medical experts testified.

He is incapable of resuming work at the steel company, the jury was told.

Candler's attorney, Dorsey Redland, had asked for $3.5 million in damages.

It was decided that officers Lucey and Gay would each pay $1,750 and officer Fowley will pay $1,000 in punitive damages.

San Francisco must pay the remainder in general damages.

South San Franciscans Protest

'Antiquated' Trailer Law Under Fire

Some South San Francisco residents are starting a move to repeal a 31-year-old city ordinance that restricts trailers and other camp cars from being parked on the city streets or on the property of the vehicle's owners.

About 50 trailer enthusiasts crowded last Tuesday night's planning commission meeting to declare their opposition to the "antiquated ordinance" that they said is unconstitutional and discriminatory against them.

They called for its repeal and offered a new ordinance in its place.

The current ordinance, adopted in July of 1943, and amended in 1947, states that "it is unlawful to permit any trailer or camp car to stand upon any public street, avenue, highway, lane, alley, court or public place within the city . . . for a period of more than one hour in any one day."

It also prohibits both the parking of any trailer or camp car on any lot or parcel in the city and the storing of such a vehicle in any place except a garage or a business set up for that purpose.

Trailer or camp cars are defined in the ordinance as either "any not self-propelled vehicle constructed and equipped for transporting human beings or for housing or sleeping quarters for human beings or a place where human beings may eat:" or as "every self-propelled vehicle constructed and equipped for . . ." (the same purposes).

These include motor homes, mini-motor homes, trailers, campers and camper shells.

The 1947 amendment prohibited a person from parking a trailer on his land and allow him to permit any visitors to park their trailer on his land for a period not to exceed 30 days in a calendar year, but only with the permission of the chief of police.

But at the planning commission meeting, Annette Balthazar, one of the leaders in the repeal move, said, "It's my business where I park my trailer." Mrs. Balthazar who has a 26-foot long trailer parked on the lawn in front of her house at 140 Francisco, has been cited once after a neighbor complained to the police.

One of Mrs. Balthazar's complaints dealt with the registration fees she has to pay for the trailer. She paid $98 in 1973 and $78 this year. The first $11 of that annual sum goes to the state, and the remainder is equally divided between the county, city and the school district. Therefore, Mrs. Balthazar argues that South San Francisco is collecting money for her to have a camper that it won't allow parked on the city streets or on her property.

Another who spoke at the meeting was William Anderson, a representative of the national Good Sam Club, which is composed of trailer and camper owners. He told the commissioners that "There were a lot of junk cars on the street for over 120 days, but that you won't let us park a $100,000 trailer on the streets for over an hour." Anderson, of Vallejo, claimed a total of 30 Good Sam members reside in South San Francisco.

Anderson was one of a Vallejo trailer group to draw up a new ordinance governing trailers and other camp vehicles that Mrs. Balthazar presented to the planning commission.

Under that proposed ordinance, the campers and trailers would be referred to as "recreational vehicles." They are defined by the state vehicle code as a "motor home, travel trailer, truck camper or camping trailer, with or without motive power, designed for human habitation for recreation or or emergency occupancy, with a living area less than 220 square feet, excluding built-in equipment such as wardrobes, closets, cabinets, kitchen units or fixtures, bath and toilet rooms."

Among the significant elements of the proposed substitute ordinance:

- Recreational vehicles would be treated like automobiles, in that they could stay parked for up to 120 hours on the streets.
- A person would be permitted to park or store a recreational vehicle upon the premises owned, leased or lawfully occupied by him.

It would allow the occupants to sleep in a recreational vehicle parked on the street overnight, for a period of up to 14 hours.

- The vehicle may also be occupied or used for sleeping by any visitors if it is on the land owned or leased by the host person for up to 30 days in a calendar year. This section would prohibit the connecting of any utility to the vehicle except for an electrical hookup, and would also prohibit charging money for the use of space.
- The penalty for a first offense against the ordinance would be a maximum fine of $100 or up to 30 days in the county jail. The penalty would be harsher for a second and third conviction. Under the current law, there is a maximum fine of $300 for an offense.

The commissioners had no comments on the matter, since it was not included as a regular agenda item. City Planner David Hale said that a report on the situation would be prepared to background the commissioners, and a public study session on the topic would be scheduled.

Mrs. Balthazar said she planned to gather a petition of those who support a change in the ordinance, and form an ad hoc committee to help organize the repeal attempt.

Free Parking for Senior Citizens Asked

The South San Francisco Parking Place Commission has adopted a resolution asking the City Council to pay for free parking for senior citizens.

The resolution was in response to the request by councilmen for the commission to provide free parking for the seniors. The commission held a hearing Wednesday afternoon, when nine representatives of the 250-member city-sponsored Senior Citizens Club asked for the parking, in connection with imminent opening of the club's new quarters on Grand Avenue.

Chairman John Penna explained that the district's bonds are being paid off from proceeds of the parking meters, and the money must come from somewhere.

One senior claimed that "the merchants don't want us." This was hotly denied by Penna, Commissioner Milt Bronstein, who is a leading Grand Avenue merchant, and merchants in the audience.

"Welcome to our street!" one woman told the seniors.

Meanwhile, the commission voted to go ahead with negotiating for three lots between Grand and Baden avenues, across from city hall. This would include a four-year option for one lot.

SSF Commissions Back Linear Park Proposal

Undaunted by the city manager's contention that a linear parkway along Colma Creek in South San Francisco is unfeasible, both tie city's Planning and Parks and Recreation Commissions have decided to hold a special joint session to see if it can be developed.

The meeting was tentatively set for Nov. 26 at 6:30 p.m. at the West Orange Avenue Library, prior to the Planning Commission's regular session at 8 p.m.

The agreement to study the possibility of a parkway came despite the strong opposition of City Manager Alario to the proposal and indicates an apparent support for it by both commissioners. The planners have expressed much enthusiasm in the past for the parkway, and Laura Sellick, representing the Park and Recreation Commission at the Planning Commission meeting last Tuesday, said that it was a "great idea."

The two commissions could make a joint recommendation to the City Council for a multipurpose design for the Colma Creek Flood Control Project, that would include the parkway.

THE LINEAR PARK, with bike and foot paths, would run along Colma Creek from Orange Park to the bay. The parkway would be developed in conjunction with the Colma Creek Flood Control Project.

The parkway received a boost from City Planner David Hale, who blistered the current flood control design for the creek as "reflecting a blatant insensitivity to the visual aspect of the project and a disregard for open space and recreation alternatives."

Hale, in a staff report to the Planning Commission on the matter, also said that the proposed design of the project by the consulting engineers Wilsey and Ham "represents a functional engineering solution to the problem of flood control."

"The preliminary designs for the project . . . would result in a concrete lined industrial looking canal, fenced off from the community," Hale said. "With proper design considerations and probably minimal additional costs, the creek could become an environmental asset rather than a divisive physical barrier running through the city."

Hale said funds for the parkway might be obtained through the flood control district, the Community Development Act, and from state and regional park funds.

At the Tuesday meeting, Planning Commissioner Eugene Mullin said that the linear park should have a higher priority than assigned by some," in an apparent reference to Alario.

The city manager has said that his main interest was in fixing the creek, and that the parkway would be "economically unfeasible," citing a figure of $1 million. But Director of Public Services Frank Addiego, under questioning by Mullin, said that estimate was "taken out of the air," and that no studies regarding the cost have been made.

Homeowners Fear Quake Law Impact

A number of homeowners of northern Pacifica are worried that they may suffer financial ruin as a result of the recently adopted Alquist-Prioto Act, restricting construction in earthquake zones.

They were to hold a public meeting yesterday at the Fairmont Recreation Center at 649 Parkview Circle, sponsored by the Fairmont Subdivisions Improvement Association.

Invited to the meeting was State Sen. Alfred E. Alquist (D-San Jose), and Assemblyman Paul V. Prilo (R-San Francisco), representatives of the State Bureau of Mines and Geology, and various city officials.

The act forbids homeowners from rebuilding homes damaged by fire or other means, in earthquake hazard zones, without obtaining geologist reports and restricts sale of homes located in those zones. These zones include an apparently vaguely defined area a quarter-mile on each side of a fault trace.

The San Andreas Fault passes right through the Fairmont subdivision and there is even a school there named San Andreas School.

"We agree that homes should not be built in such zones," declared Esther Hall, secretary of the improvement association, "but we're here. What are you going to do with us?"

Elks Grand Ruler Is Elected

Gerald Strohm, of Fresno, California, was unanimously elected as Grand Exalted Ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, at the 110th Grand Lodge Convention of the B.P.O.E. held last July in Miami Beach, Florida, this culminating a lifetime of service to his country and his community.

He was born Oct. 19, 1910 in Kingman, Arizona and after the death of his father in 1923, he and his mother moved to Los Angeles where he attended Belmont High School and U.C.L.A. where he was graduated in 1932 with a B.A. in Economics. During World War II, he served with 103rd Infantry Division Artillery and now holds a retired rank of Major.

After entering into private business he became involved in the many community affairs of Fresno and joined the Fresno Lodge in 1947. He started through the chairs as Lecturing Knight in 1951 and was elected Exalted Ruler for the year 1954-1955. Subsequent years have found him very active in Grand Lodge work.

It was on March 16, 1935 that Gerald and the former Kathryn Gehring were married. He says that being childless may be one of the major reasons they have been so dedicated to various Elk Charities which benefit children.

Planners OK Housing Plan

A recommendation that the long-delayed proposed Housing Element of the San Mateo County General Plan be adopted into the plan was approved Wednesday by the County Planning Commission.

The recommendation now goes to the County Board of Supervisors for scheduling of a public hearing on the proposal.

The Housing Element, which cites a shortage of some 9,000 low and moderate-income housing units in the county and proposes steps for a solution, received the endorsement of Tom Adams, attorney for the Legal Aid Society of San Mateo County.

Adams informed the commission that the Legal Aid Society was in the process of filing a suit against the county for failure to adopt a Housing Element in its General Plan, as required by state law, but agreed to hold the suit in abeyance until a revised plan, completed last week, was prepared.

The cooperation of the County Planning Department in getting out the revised plan was "excellent," Adams said.

"Adoption (of the Housing Element) will bring the county out of default," Adams declared.

Joel Goldfus, spokesman for the Midpeninsula Citizens for Fair Housing, stated that the Housing Element "expresses a strong commitment to meeting the needs of the county's low and moderate-income residents and to ending illegal discrimination in housing."

"We urge you to endorse it and to commit yourselves to accomplishing its objectives," he added.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Henry Dietz said there was "no question the county was dilatory" in preparing a Housing Element. But, he stated, "once put to the task (by Adams) it (the planning staff) has done beautifully."

County Planning Director Donald A. Woolfe concurred that his staff "really came through — never have so few done so much in so short a period of time."

Ray Letsinger, assistant city manager for Daly City, which is developing its own housing plan, expressed some concerns in the Housing Element relative to involvement of the Regional Planning Committee in solving housing problems.

He said that there might be some concern over the possibility of usurping local control.

Also, Letsinger contended, it is "premature" to propose a joint city-county housing plan before checking with the cities to see if they agree with the county approach.

Woolfe added that it was indicated the three cities in the county with population of more than 50,000 persons (Daly City, Redwood City and San Mateo) and eligible under state law to develop their own housing elements would not be a part of the county plan.

Menlo Park also would be excluded because it has its own housing plan developed under "special circumstances," he reported.

The five goals of the original version of the Housing Element were adopted "in concept" by the Board of Supervisors in January, 1973, reaffirming its action in November of that year and referring the plan back to the Planning Department for revision and updating in accordance with changes in state law and availability of housing assistance on the state and federal level.

The goals of the plan are to provide:

- A sufficient supply of housing to insure a safe and sanitary dwelling of adequate size and acceptable cost for every county resident.
- A sufficient production of new housing . . . for new residents anticipated under present and future growth policies.
- A sufficient distribution of housing by type, size and cost, so that each household, regardless of race, religion or national origin, is provided a reasonable choice of location within every city and unincorporated community in the county.
- A sufficient level of public services, amenities, neighborhood design and maintenance to insure decent quality residential areas.
- Sufficient provision for social needs related to housing and protection of fundamental rights in the pursuit of satisfactory housing.

Crash Fatal To Driver

A 20-year-old gardener may have bled to death while seeking aid early Wednesday morning after he managed to get out of his car in an accident on the Eastmoor offramp from Interstate 280 in Daly City.

According to the California Highway Patrol and coroner's investigators, Patrick J. Reardon, 20, was found unconscious some 93 feet from his demolished car by a passing motorist. He was taken to Mary's Help Hospital, Daly City, where he was pronounced dead on arrival at 2:25 a.m.

Highway Patrolmen reported that Reardon had apparently been southbound on 280 and had turned off on the Eastmoor exit, which leaves the freeway on an uphill incline and curves to the right. The auto struck the guard rail on the driver's side, rode along the top of it some 25 to 30 feet, tearing it out, before stopping.

Short Count: Local Stores Ordered to Remove Merchandise From Shelves

By BOB HEMINGWAY

Six different products have been ordered taken off sale in San Mateo County retail stores following an intensive two-day check for short counts in pre-packaged merchandise by eight inspectors of the County Department of Weights and Measures.

H.E. Smith, director of the department, reported Wednesday that of 271 different products checked, a total of six, mostly in the stationery line, turned up with short counts.

The most glaring shortage, he said, was found in packaged index and file cards being sold in two Redwood City stationery stores. In one instance, Smith related, packages with labels specifying a count of 1,000 were found to be 50 to 150 cards short. In the other instance, there were short counts of 50 to 100 cards.

In a Tanforan Shopping Center store at San Bruno, packaged writing paper with 35-count labels was found to be one or two sheets short, Smith said.

Typing paper, labeled as 8½-by-11 inches in size, was found to be a quarter-inch short in measurement, and was ordered off sale in a Daly City store

Packages of plastic knives, forks and spoons, labeled as containing 24 pieces were found to be one or two pieces short in a Foster City store, packaged golf tees in a San Mateo store were ordered off sale after it was determined some of the packages contained only 49 tees while labeled as containing 50.

The short count in the index cards was so glaring, Smith said, that he notified the chief of the State Division of Measurement Standards. The latter has ordered a statewide survey of the products.

The procedure after discovering the short counts, Smith said, is to send a copy of his department's report to the departments of weights and measures in the counties where the products are handled by wholesalers. Inspectors then check at the wholesale level for short counts in stockpiled merchandize.

Also, departments are notified in the counties, where the product is manufactured.

It could be faulty packaging machinery, carelessness which caused the short count, Smith said, or it could be deliberate.

In the latter instance, criminal charges are filed against the manufacturer.

But probably what hurts the manufacturer most is the cost of having to pick up his product from the various sales points, return it, and repackage it. This can cost anywhere from $20,000 to $100,000, Smith said.

Enforcement of weights and counts is tops in California, Smith contends, because each county has a department of weights and measures. In fact, he said, many manufacturers are wary of the California enforcement and have separate packaging lines for products sold in this state.

"We give top priority in our department to consumer complaints," Smith stated. "If any person comes up with short count in a packaged product he or she has purchased, they should call us (the office is in Redwood City at 70 Chestnut St.) and we will immediately send an inspector to the retail outlet where the product was purchased."

Smith cited a recent incident in a North County service station where a woman customer claimed she was overcharged 26 cents for gasoline because of a malfunction in a pump.

She demanded her money back and the attendant refused. Finally things got so bad that the persons involved ended up in court charged with assault.

"All it would have taken," Smith said, "was for the woman to call the Department of Weights and Measures. She would have gotten her 26 cents back, and we would have been her champion."

3 County Air Violators

Only three San Mateo County violations were listed for stationary facilities in October, the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District reports.

The Enforcement Division processed 372 complaints in the Bay Area, issued 160 violation notices, conducted 46 initial inspections and completed 1,120 assigned reinspections, as well as 3,516 other inspections.

Stationary source violations statistics found San Mateo with the least, and Sonoma County next with four. Marin had five and Napa six; but San Francisco had 15, Santa Clara County and Alameda County both 31, and Contra Costa County 57.

San Mateo was in the statistical center on vehicle violations, with 87 observed. High was 173 for Santa Clara; low was four for Napa.

The San Mateo County stationary source violations included, according to the BAAPCD, H. K. Porter Co., Inc., 1777 Industrial Way, Belmont; Apollo Oil Co., 701 Harbor Blvd., Belmont; and Raychem Corp., 300 Constitution Way, Menlo Park.

Ben Franklin's School Pride

Benjamin Franklin PTA in Daly City had the opportunity to work with Benjamin Franklin Student Government and the school district to improve the appearance of the inner court yards.

Several years ago the school district placed planter boxes in the inner court yards. There were very few plants in the planter boxes and they died. Now the planter boxes are filled with large trees and shrubs. Greenery is planted along the side of the building in the inner court yards. The money from the recent PTA Bake Sale at the Back-to-School Night also was added to the Landscaping Fund.

SSF Council Postpones City Hall Addition

The South San Francisco City Council has decided to do its part for inflation.

Meeting in special session this week, the councilmen voted to defer indefinitely a planned half-million dollar wing for the City Hall. It would have contained a showplace City Council chamber as well as much-needed offices.

Councilmen expressed concern over maintaining an adequate reserve fund, which has been depleted over the past year by spending $2 million on capital improvement projects.

Much of this spending has been in the form of advances to the Colma Creek Flood Control District, resulting in early reconstruction of bridges on Linden and Spruce Avenues. The city will not begin to be reimbursed until 1981, according to Administrative Asst. Mike Wilson.

Meanwhile, the council will continue to meet in makeshift chambers in the Orange Avenue Library basement. City Manager Ed Alario has ordered a permanent sound system be installed there.

The council vote to delay the addition was 4-1, with only Warren Steinkamp favoring immediate construction. Mayor Terry Mirri flew in from National Guard camp especially for the meeting.

Low bid on the complete City Hall expansion project was $542,000. It Would have included a basement floor in the new wing as well as an outside fire escape and roof strengthening to brace the City Hall's colorful tower. Low bid on a scaled down project came to $483,000.

Wilson indicated that some city hall improvements may be built as the money becomes available. Meanwhile work is continuing on other phases of the City Hall upgrading.

The council awarded a contract for air conditioning and heating the City Hall basement and second floor, and the Grand Avenue Library, to Valley Sheet Metal Co. for $150,000. Bids ranged to $177,100. Councilmen decided to delete from the project the air conditioning and heating of the Police Station, since police will be moving into a new building next year.

Although the Public Services Department (zoning, planning, building, engineering, streets and sewers) will be moving into the present police station, the council decided to defer work on the building until it is remodeled for the new occupants.

According to Wilson, the city staff now is designing a civic center masterplan which will show all work that will be done on the site, including future landscaping, construction of the arbor for senior citizens, and remodeling of city hall and the current police station. The work will then be divided into phases.

Meanwhile, current city hall remodeling is continuing. The former council chamber has been divided into offices and a conference room. The main lobby planter has been removed, a corridor has been transformed into a law library and the hole in the lobby of the top floor, through which hung a long chandelier, has been covered up.

Israel Consul Raps Arafat UN Speech

A joint meeting of three of South San Francisco's service clubs heard Shlomo Tadmor, consul general of Israel, Thursday explain why Israel will not negotiate with the Palestine Liberation Organization.

Some 112 men assembled at the Brentwood Lodge, in the city's first joint meeting of the Kiwanis, Lions and Rotary clubs. Rotary was the host club and Al Blumenthal, local accountant, was the chairman of the day.

Tadmor charged that the United Nations had reached the low point of its operation when it invited PLC leader Yasir Arafat to speak.

"Formed to prevent World War III," he declared, "the United Nations may have lit the fuse to start it."

The UN's legitimization of Arafat's group may frustrate any real peace efforts of the UN, Tadmor said.

The PLO, he declared, is a self-appointed government which does not represent Palestine in any way. "Its major credential is murder. The list of crimes include the slaughter of 11 athletes at the Olympic games, murder of Christian pilgrims at an Israeli airport, ambushing of school buses, slaughter of school children, hijacking of numerous planes, destruction of airplanes, killing of innocent tourists and ambushing ambulances.

"By inviting these thugs to the United Nations," he declared, "the UN has ill-served the cause of international goodwill, humanitarianism and peace-keeping."

Tadmar alleged that statements made by Arafat during the past week, at the UN and in television interviews, that he wished only for the Arabs to live at peace with the Jews, were in conflict with a public statement he has made repeatedly during past years — that he wished to destroy the State of Israel.

"They didn't believe that Hitler meant what he said about making war and destroying the Jews . . . . I believe that Arafat means every word he has said about destroying Israel."

Israel has always been willing to negotiate with Egypt, Syria and Jordan.

Auto Suit Settled Out of Court

A Daly City automobile dealer has settled a civil suit out of court charging him with setting back the odometer readings of the autos he has been selling, Deputy Dist. Atty. Charles C. Pierpoint reported this morning.

He was identified as Loren A. White, who does business as Dave White Auto Sales at 6774 Mission Street.

According to Pierpoint, a civil suit was filed against White for false and misleading advertising and unfair competition because he allegedly would purchase late model cars and then set back the mileage reading about 30,000 miles on the average.

He reported that a complaint was filed in April, 1972, after a motorist who had sold his car to the firm noticed it in the lot and checked the mileage. When he noticed the odometer had been set back, the motorist notified the district attorney's office, Pierpoint reported.

At a pre-trial conference on Nov. 7, Pierpoint reported, White signed an injunction which stipulates he will send copies of federal odometer readings on all cars he sells for a year, will abstain from all false and misleading advertising and pay $1,000 in penalties to the county.

Pierpoint reported that only eight autos were involved in the case, but about half the autos sold by White during the period are now out of the state.

Football Betting Ring Cracked

Two Peninsula men have been arrested for operating a $2,500 a week football card betting ring after a three-week investigation by four police departments and the district attorney's office, detective Peter Katsumis of the sheriff's Organized Crime Unit reported.

Arrested in San Francisco Nov. 9 on charges of possession of bookmaking paraphernalia were Joseph A. Frontiera, 38, a constuction worker of 352 Susie Way, South San Francisco, and Phillip M. Zarba, 36, of 60 Alta Vista Way, Daly City. Both have been released on $1,500 bail.

According to Katsumis, the investigation began three weeks ago with a tip from Redwood City police, and involved the sheriff's office, South San Francisco police and the San Francisco Police Department.

Frontiera has been kept under surveillance for some time, and Nov. 8 Katsumis reported, officers saw him pass a number of football betting cards to Zarba at the corner of Pacifica and Van Ness Avenues in San Francisco.

When officers searched Frontiera's home, Katsumis reported, thousands of betting cards for the rest of the season were found.

Housing Grants Said Possible

San Mateo County could receive up to $2.7 million in federal funding each year for the next three years for community and housing development programs.

The potential funding was disclosed last week by Daniel Roos, community representative for the Department of Housing and Urban Development in San Mateo County.

Ross appeared before a meeting of the San Mateo County Environmental Quality Coordinating Council in Millbrae to discuss the Housing and Community Development Act signed into law recently by President Gerald Ford.

Appropriations for the act have not yet been approved by Congress, but Roos said he is confident that the funds will be approved.

Roos said San Mateo County is in a favorable funding position due to the Neighborhood Development Program in East Palo Alto and extensive county involvement with previous water and sewer programs funded by federal grants.

The bulk of the Housing and Urban Development (HUD) funds go to cities over 50,000 population. In this county, that would qualify San Mateo, Daly City and Redwood City.

Roos noted that in addition to the above cities, communities with on-going community development projects under federal funding would also be eligible despite their population. Menlo Park would therefore receive an individual allocation.

Other cities in San Mateo County under 50,000 population could work with the county in a joint application for funds, he added.

Applications for HUD funds would have to include a three-year plan for community development needs. Included are progrmas to eliminate or prevent slums, blight and deterioration, and provide improved community facilities. Projects must give priority to activities benefiting low and moderate income families.

Carlos Boltadano, project planner for HUD in the county planning department urged the county board of supervisors to provide imput for some kind of joint countywide application for funds.

Seniors to Organize

A meeting to organize a new chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons in the Millbrae-San Bruno area will be held Nov. 25 at 10:30 a.m. at the Millbrae Recreation Center.

Maurice Berube, acting president, says he expects some 400 members to enter the chapter, though not at the first meeting.

A committee has been at work organizing the new Chapter, and asks anyone interested in joining to bring their AARP membership card.

Man Held In Shooting

A neighborhood quarrel ended in gunfire Sunday evening and the arrest of a 20-year-old Pacifica man, who was charged with assault with a deadly weapon.

Booked at the county jail was Robert C. Folla, of 646 Parkview Circle.

According to police, an argument ensued at about 7 p.m. between Folla and his neighbor, Jerome Looby, 41, of 657 Parkview.

Police said Looby walked away from the dispute and into his house. Looby went to his bedroom, and had no sooner turned on the light when a shotgun blast ripped through the window.

Police said Looby crawled from his bedroom into the kitchen, where he called police.

Police officers questioned Folla in connection with the shooting, and reported they found a .12 gauge shotgun leaning against the wall in a bedroom.

Folla, police said, had been drinking before they questioned him.

Traffic Plan to Council

Pacifica's Transportation and Safety Commission seems to have come up with a traffic plan for west Sharp Park that has both city staff and residents satisfied, according to Traffic Engineer Kevin Roberts.

The commission held a study session Thursday night, with members of the Sharp Park Improvement Club in attendance, at which various alternates to the current one-way street pattern were examined.

One alternate would have made all streets two-way.

The commissioners and residents finally agreed on an alternate which would retain all present one-way streets — mainly the cross-streets between the freeway and the ocean — and add two more.

Beach Boulevard, running alongside the ocean, would be one-way headed north. Paloma, at the north end of Beach, would become one-way for one block, from Beach to Palmetto.

In addition, parking would be banned all along the oceanside of Beach north of the sewer plant. South of Montecito Avenue, which runs along the sewer plant, angle parking would be allowed along the west side of Beach Avenue. This part of Beach Avenue has been paved, is wider, and turns inland where it is not subject to erosion.

In addition, angle parking would be permitted along the south side of Montecito, from Beach to Palmetto.

The measure, according to Roberts, would provide 30 additional parking spaces along Beach. It would only serve as an interim measure, however, until off-street parking is obtained by the City Council.

It will now be up to the City Council to consider the matter, possibly at its Nov. 25 meeting.

Make Your Child Feel Important

By MICHELLE CARTER
Post Staff Writer

If you do only one thing for your child, make him feel important within his family.

This is the opinion of Dr. Lee Salk, a pediatric psychologist and author of two books on raising children. He believes that if you have successfully accomplished this, you have done it all. If a child has a good opinion of his own self-worth, he says, then he is well prepared to handle the experience of life that can make emotional cripples out of less well-equipped children-turned-adults.

Dr. Salk talked about children and parents in an interview earlier this week as part of a cross-country tour to promote his most recent book, "Preparing for Parenthood" (McKay, $7.95).

In this book, Dr. Salk focuses attention on what changes a couple can expect with the birth of a child. He also challenges couples to consider fully whether they really want to have chlidren at all.

"People should have permission to elect to have no children or to elect to have only one. But at the same time I think those people who are completely comfortable in their role as parents should be free to have as many children as they want," Dr. Salk explained.

"I'm in favor of allowing people to make their own choices on the basis of all the information and that's what I have tried to present in this book."

In conjunction with his belief that every child should be a wanted and prepared-for child, Dr. Salk advocates the continuance of laws permitting abortions.

"Abortions should be made available to women who want them. A woman should have the right to decide what happens to her own body."

He sees abortion as a viable alternative for the unwed teenager despite medical opinions that a young girl who undergoes an abortion can expect psychological problems after the operation.

"It has been my experience that girls who choose to hve abortions put it behind them and get over it very easily. However, those girls who give their children up for adoption frequently have nightmares about their babies and even walk the streets wondering 'Is that my child?' at every child they see.

DR. LEE SALK

A pediatric psycologist, Dr. Salk (who poses here with a young friend) has authored a new book, "Preparing for Parenthood." His first book, "What Every Child Would Like His Parents to Know," was a best seller and has been translated into 14 languages. Dr. Salk is the brother of Dr. Jonas Salk, who developed the polio vaccine, and Dr. Herman Salk, professor of veterinary medicine at UC Davis.

"It appears that girls who choose to raise their illegitimate child are more comfortable about their decision. However, the child does suffer in these arrangements. The answer, of course, is to help them raise their child effectively."

Dr. Salk also believes that fewer children would be abused if prospective parents knew more about what they were getting into.

"If people knew more about parenthood, many abusive parents wouldn't have had children in the first place. But we also have to stop abusing child abusers and help them to understand their emotions and control them."

He points out that it is perfectly normal for parents to feel like they want to drop their child out the window at one time or another, but the difference between normal parents and abusive parents is control — the key to reforming abusive parents.

Every child-raising situation could be improved, he believes, by getting father into the act.

"I'm a very strong advocate of fatherhood. Gender has nothing to do with being an effective parent. Divorce laws are just now beginning to reflect this thinking. The old idea that women have something men don't have as parents is totally unsound. Judges are now starting to award child custody to fathers not because the mother is unfit but because the father is a better parent."

The father should be in on things from the very beginning, according to Dr. Salk, including labor and delivery and those first few post-natal hours. In fact, he is absolutely in favor of reversing hospital rules to make childbirth a tender family event rather than an "obstetrical procedure."

"Hospitals tend to disregard the importance of family needs at a time like this. Hospitals need to be much more human dnd responsive to the tender feelings of new parents."

He urges hospitals to allow fathers in the delivery room, to allow siblings to visit their mother in the hospital and to see the new infant, to allow mothers to cuddle their babies immediately after birth and any time during their hospital stay. But he admits that few hospitals, even his own, are prepared to make these concessions to the family.

Until they do, though, the trend toward having babies at home will continue, he believes. It's his opinion that couples choose that route not because they aren't concerned about the medical risks, but because they fear they can't experience childbirth as a family event in a hospital.

Hospitals also tend to undermine the confidence of new parents, something Dr. Salk hopes to counteract with his book. He advises new parents to give in to their natural instincts to cuddle and play with their new babies and to pick them up when they cry.

Dr. Salk himself is the father of two, Eric, 13, and Pia, 7, and "people tell me that they are my best advertisement."

To support his theory that children learn to be good parents themselves by watching their own parents, he notes with pride that his parents were named Jewish Parents of the Year in 1955.

Others modeling the dresses will be Mrs. Phyllis Odenthal, Mrs. Mary O'Neil, Mrs. Mimi Plate, Mrs. Marie Poggio, Mrs. Dorothy Ryan, Mrs. Lorraine Sandefur, Mrs. Nandy Stewart, Mrs. Verna Teglia and Mrs. Darius Tonini.

The gathering will be held in the California Golf Club in South San Francisco. No-host cocktails are scheduled to be served beginning at 11:30 a.m. Luncheon will be at noon. The plans and preparations for the event have been the responsibility of Mrs. Chiappari and Mrs. Macklin. Working with the chairwomen have been Mrs. Odenthal, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Teglia, decorations; Mrs. Ariani and Mrs. Isabel D'Aloisio, favors and Mrs. Poggio and Mrs. Stewart, hostesses;

Other members of the committee are Mrs. Sandefur, Mrs. Florence Thieman and Mrs. Janet Wilson, investments; Mrs. Tonini, models; Mrs. Peggy Crandall, Mrs. Lee Stringer and Mrs. Teglia, programs; Mrs. Emily Freedman, publicity, Mrs. Ethel Elsdon and Mrs. Dina Pappas, reservations and Mrs. Corrine Beall, treasurer.

"HOW TO BE A MORE Effective Parent" will be the topic for a panel discussion at the regular meeting of the Daniel Webster P.T.A. to be held this evening at 7:30 p.m.

Members of the faculty and a counsellor will conduct the panel and attempt to field all questions during a question and answer session following the more formal presentation.

Mrs. Marlene Dickerman, vice president and program chairwoman, has arranged for the program which will be held in the multi-use room at the school.

A shopping tip for parents — The book fair will be open for business during the evening and the books on sale are all ideal for Christmas giving!

MATTHEW BREEM, Wayne Boheln, Sara Gibson, Katie Peters, Silpa Thanawala, David Wiprut, Jessica Duffy, Elizabeth Giosso, Christopher Saul, Yvonne Chien, Aaron Sikes, Patrick Sullivan and Leslie Gonsalves have already reserved front row seats at the puppet show being sponsored by the Lake Merced Play School!

The children, all students at the school, will be trek from their Daly City homes to the Stonestown YMCA on Saturday morning to seek the renown Norman Barry puppets at the show which will begin at 10:30 a.m.

The benefit program is open to the public and Mrs. Mary Breen, publicity chairwoman, reports that tickets, costing $1 for adults and 75 cents for children will be sold at the YMCA at 10 a.m. Saturday.

EARLY SHOPPING for the Holidays is really in style this year and so are handmade items so, if you want to be "with it" plan to drop in on the Christmas Boutique being held this Sunday, Nov. 24 in Chaminade Hall on the campus of Riordan High School in San Francisco.

Mrs. William Sandoval is the chairwoman of the benefit being sponsored by the Riordan Guild.

THE CHRISTMAS SNOW BALL is the name of the holiday dance in St. Andrew's Community according to word from Mrs. William Holland.

Father James Moher is chairman of the committee organizing the dinner-dance which will be held on Dec. 7 at 8 p.m. Assisting Father Moher will be Mrs. Colleen Lafayette, Al Baccei, Mrs. Carmenchita Falcis, Mrs. Bobbi Cunningham, Sister Jeanenne, Mrs. Elena Franzoiu, Mrs. Dorothy Turner and Mike Carroll. Mrs. Nancy Walters, 756-0455, in the ticket chairwoman. Reservations are available now for a $10 per person donation. Proceeds from the ball will go to the St. Andrews building fund.

THE ANNUAL HOLIDAY Cookie-Candy Boutique sponsored by the Westlake Catholic Women will be held Saturday, Dec. 7, following the 4 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. masses at Our Lady of Mercy Catholic Church and on Sunday, Dec. 8 after each Mass.

Mrs. George San Pietro and Mrs. James Garvey have been in change of the gift items and decorations and Mrs. Keith Wenquist and Mrs. Kenneth Olson have been arranging the cookie and candy sale.

Mrs. Lyn Dougherty, publicity chairwoman, reminds everyone wishing to donate candies or baked goods, that all contributions must be delivered to the parish hall between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 7.

A PLEA for persons cleaning their book shelves to contribute to a spring book fair has been issued by the members of the Balboa High School alumni association.

Mrs. Mary Goosev, a member of the English department faculty at Balboa, is most anxious to get paper backed books which can be sold to students for pennies in order to help stimulate an interest in developing reading skills.

For information or for pick up arrangements, call Mrs. Goosev or Nick Kafkas at Balboa High school, 333-2777.

IF YOU ARE a Girl Scout leader in Daly City, and you had a left out feeling when it came to knowing what scouting is doing in this area, don't fret, you are not alone — no one could find any news about local activities in the Daly City edition of Scoutlook. According to Mrs. James Marino all the copy for the Daly City edition was mislaid by the post office and finally arrived, one month late, in the offices of the printer! A special mimeographed sheet will be going out to local scouters in the near future, along with copies of the council edition of Scoutlook, according to the news flash received from Mrs. Morino.

WHILE SPEAKING about scouting, George Swain, 992-3495, would like to arrange a wood badge reunion for San Francisco, Daly City, Colma, South San Francisco and San Bruno men who have earned their "ticket to Troop One Gilwell."

IS YOUR CHILD LEARNING?

Every child can learn, but many don't keep up. Poorly prepared young men and women are not qualified for college or technical training. They pay the penalties their entire lives.

The dedicated staff of Moore School is concerned about these students and is finding answers for many. They have found these students need structure, very small classes, and individual attention. They give the discouraged student confidence and the antagonistic student an alternative.

If you're worried about your child, call 344-5707.

NELL NORTON

Good morning, good cooks.

Last week the feature recipe was a diet chowder. Today, just to show that I haven't deserted the dessert lovers, here is a delightfully rich cake that's also delightfully easy to make.

Mrs. Maralee Wiltz who lives in Kentfield, Calif., gets my thanks for sharing this recipe with us.

ANGEL FOOD DELITE

12 large marshmallows, quartered
three-fourths cup sherry
A large angel food cake
1 pint whipping cream
sugar and vanilla to taste

Cut the 12 marshmallows in quarters and soak in the three-fourths cup sherry for two hours. Slice the large angel food cake crosswise into three layers. Whip the pint of cream, adding sugar and vanilla to taste.

Using a slotted spoon, lift the marshmallows from the sherry and blend gently into the whipped cream. Reassemble the cake, placing whipped cream between the layers and frosting the outside and top.

Rice is a great help in menu planning. It's an excellent substitute for potatoes and combines well with meat and vegetables. This casserole is a delicious and unusual combination of ingredients.

GREEK RICE CASSEROLE

½ pound mushrooms
1 can tomatoes (No. 2½ size)
three-fourths cup uncooked rice
1 cup finely shredded lettuce
1 cup minced onions
1 clove garlic, minced
¼ cup seedless raisins
1½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1¼ cups boullion (chicken or beef)
1 pound link sausages, partially cooked

Wash the half pound mushrooms and cut off tough part of stems. Leave small mushrooms whole and cut larger ones into two or three pieces.

In a two quart casserole with fitted top, combine mushrooms, 28 ounces tomatoes, three-fourths cup uncooked rice, one cup each shredded lettuce and minced onion, one minced garlic clove, one-fourth cup raisins, one and one-half teaspoons salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper and one and one-fourth cups boullion.

Partially fry the pound of sausages and arrange on top of casserole. Cover tightly.

Bake in moderate over (350-degrees) 40 to 50 minutes or until rice is tender. Uncover and cook 15 minutes longer until sausage is browned and liquid absorbed. Makes six one-cup servings.

HALL-CORRADI (King's Photo Studio)

The Church of the Good Shepherd in Pacifica was the setting for the marriage of Vickie Ann Hall and John V. Corradi who are now making their first home in that city. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Cletus M. Hall of Pacifica and the late Mr. Hall; Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Corradi of Pacifica are the bridegrooms's parents.

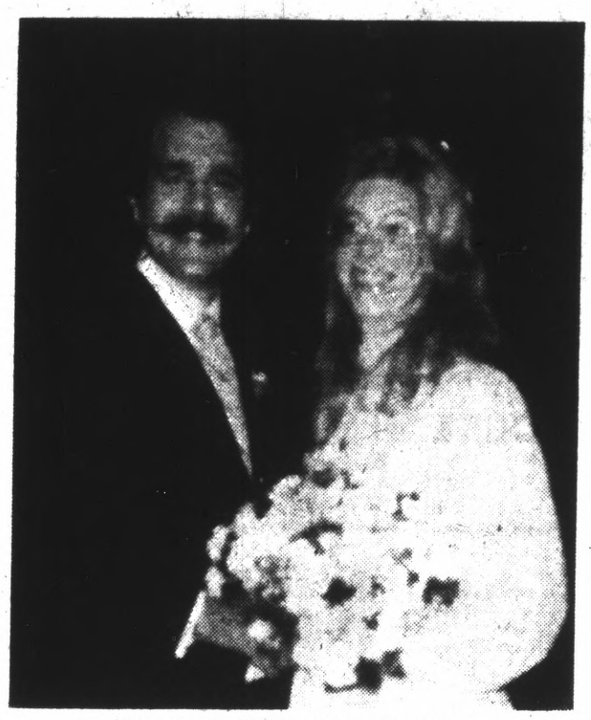
'Beginning Shabbaton' Set at Beth Israel

"The Beginning Shabbaton" will be held for Beth Israel-Judea Religious School students in grades seven, eight, nine on Saturday and Sunday at the Temple on Brotherhood Way.

Activities for Saturday evening will include a Havdallah Service (conclusion of the Sabbath) led by Cantor Salo Blumenthal; a creative Bible presentation by Rabbi Herbert Morris; workshops led by Religious School teachers: George Kapkin, Joan Zeluck, Ted Zeff, Harriet Schiffer, Maura Engel and Deena Stutman; Crafts' session conducted by Specialist Rose Greenspun; Israeli Dancing led by Robin Raphael.

Refreshments during the evening will be provided by the Sisterhood of the Temple. Adding to the evening's enjoyment there will be games, singing and a film presentation.

Friday evening, a special Consecration Service for Beth Israel-Judea's young men and women who were confirmed in June 1974 will be held at the Temple on Brotherhood Way.



MR. AND MRS. JAMES SOALS

Knight, Soals Exchange Vows

A honeymoon in Yosemite followed the marriage of H. Jean Knight and James Michael Soals, who are now making their first home in San Jose.

Grace Lutheran Church in San Mateo was the setting for the couple's nuptials. The Rev. Carl Hiller performed the rites for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Knight of San Mateo, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Soals of South San Francisco.

A reception followed at the church hall.

Jean said her vows in a champagne colored Georgette style gown with insets of lace at the waist, sleeves and bodice. For something old, she wore a gold locket belonging to her great-grandmother.

Mrs. Richard Seiler of Bronxville, N.Y., the matron of honor for her sister, wore a pale pink crepe gown with a lace bodice and sleeves. A similar gown in green crepe was chosen by bridesmaid, Ingaborg Hosp.

Anthony Zancanella served as the best man. Ushers were William Yantis, Stuart Etzler and Thomas Soals of La Jolla, brother of the bridegroom.

The new matron was graduated from Concordia High School in Oakland and Concordia Teacher's College in Seward, Neb. Her husband is an alumnus of South San Francisco High School, the College of San Mateo and San Francisco State. He has one other brother, Gary Soals of Denver, Colo. who attended the ceremony with his wife, and two sisters, Kathleen and Emily Jo Soals.

Temple Sets Bat Mitzvah Celebration

Sabbath services will be held at Congregation B'nai Israel on Friday, beginning at 8:30 p.m. The service will be led by Rabbi Ira Book and Cantor Jacob Graudenz who will chant the liturgy.

Rabbi Book has selected "Israel and the U.N.: Giving and Getting Recognition" as his sermon topic. A highlight of the evening will be the dedication of a pulpit cover in honor of Arthur LaPedis, by his family. LaPedis is treasurer of the congregation. An Oneg Shabbat will follow the service.

Sabbath Morning services will begin on Saturday at 10 a.m. "And Jacob Went Out . . . A Never-Ending Migration" is the sermon topic selected by Rabbi Book.

That evening, during Ma'ariv and Havadalah Services, Lisa Levine, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Leonard Levine, will become Bat Mitzvah, the attainment of an adult consciousness of the Jewish people.

Lisa will participate in the readings of the service and will chant Psalm 33 from the Book of Psalms. Included in the service will be a portion during which members of the family, Lisa's teachers and friends will be honored during the Havdalah, candlelighting ending the Sabbath.

Lisa will be presented with a prayer book by the congregation's president, George Bilick, the Sisterhood will present a gift and a representative of the Men's Club and the Chalutzim Chapter of United Synagogue Youth will present prayer books to the congregation in Lisa's honor. A perpetual plaque, listing the Bar and Bat Mitzvahs of the congregation will be passed along by the last Bar Mitzvah, Matthew Snyderman.

A reception hosted by the Levine family will follow the service.

What's New

"What's new with the book worms?"

The book worms are raving over the appearance of titles that delight their donnish souls.

There's a book entitled "For Those Tears" which is the incredible story of Nora Lam who was adopted into one of China's oldest and richest families, the Sungs. When she grew up, she was betrayed by the very people she thought loved her. She watched the Communists "murder" her own father in a Chinese hospital. She was kept in a Chinese prison and, though pregnant, was forced to work at hard labor. She was scheduled to face a firing squad, but lived to escape and give birth to her baby that, due to the providence of God, came late.

For the Jacks and Jills with green thumbs but possessing no time for puttering there's a book by Carla Wallach entitled "The Reluctant Weekend Gardener." To weekend gardeners Ms. Wallach says, "your garden is there for your pleasure." Thus she writes that her "book is about a one way relationship: how to get the most out of your garden while giving the least in return." While the book is full of useful charts and bibliographies it is written in a charming style around such chapters as "The Good Guys of Gardening," "Are You Nuts for Fruits and Vegetables?" "Better Stick to Herbs," "If It's Green, Call It a Lawn," and "Keep Mulching, and You'll Keep Smiling."

"The Cook General" is a change of pace mystery that is so new it has barely hit the shelves. Reviewers call it bloody, ghastly, brutal with the reader following, step by step, a murder and the dismemberment of the victim's body.

"ONCE UPON A STAGE" by Charles and Louise Samuels is a biography on an old and burnt over subject, vaudeville. Yet it has an air of nostalgia about it that makes pleasant reading about the footlights and costumes of a bygone age.

From the what's new department comes a book about a hobby that's different — making, caring for and collecting knives. In "The Gun Digest Book of Knives" B. R. Hughes and Jack Lewis present a sideline of man's story that the historians have neglected.

Authors Hughes and Lewis suggest that the first battle in history, probably between two cavemen, was about the relative merits of cutting instruments. From then to now knife making has been an important industry; now it is in its golden age.

TENNEY-MILLER (Corrine Photo)

At home in Burlingame after a wedding trip to Lake Tahoe and Donner are Mr. and Mrs. John F. Miller Jr. (Theresa Tenney) who were married at the Oakland Temple of the Church of Latter Day Saints. Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. James Tenney of Pacifica and Mr. and Mrs. John Miller of Los Molinos.

TN Writing Club Formed

New to Terra Nova High School this fall is the Creative Writing Club.

Formed by students who were interested in more than just creative writing class, this club is sponsored by Ed Brownstone, an English teacher at Terra Nova.

Purpose through the club is to provide information to young writers — where they can submit their poems or short stories for prizes. Such magazines as Seventeen and Teen', two successful teen-prone division zines, offer teenagers an opportunity to publish their works and get paid for it.

The club also plans to attend plays and shows in and around the community. control sign up contact

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

Finocchio 'Spotlight' On Show Business

Finocchio's, a night club that is as synonymous with San Francisco as the Golden Gate Bridge, has become one of the city's indefatigable institutions at 506 Broadway, offering a glittering line-up of female impersonators. Owner-operator Joe Finocchio first opened the doors of the present location 38 years ago and he has maintained a steady stream of business consisting of both tourists and local regulars who return time and again to witness the unique art of males dressing in female attire and duplicating the mannerisms, voice and actions of the "weaker sex."

Joe, an Italian who never seems to lose his enthusiasm for his night club and its entertainers (even though he could have retired years ago), can often be found on the premises with his wife Eve, who in recent years has become instrumental in screening new talent, conducting auditions and overseeing the production of each show. Working as a team, Joe and Eve Finocchio have permitted their night club to lose none of its international appeal. As Joe has often said: "We've got one of the cleanest shows in town, and we intend to keep it that way."

The present revue at Finocchio's, "Spotlight on Show Business," includes singing, dancing, comedy, a marionette act, parodies, and a chorus line.

Call Kay at 345-0488 and ask about their Drive-Up to Reno ("Super Tour"), South and North Tahoe Carson City (Ormsby House Hotel), and Las Vegas. Straight reservations or package. If you're thinking about "Fun the Nevada Way" during the Holidays, now is the time to make the arrangements . . . For a romantic evening of dining, set sail for The Moonraker, a sophisticated restaurant with a nautical accent, situated on the upper level of the same ocean-side building that houses Captain Charles, a gourmet seafood restaurant. Both are located on the border of the Pacific Ocean at Rockaway Beach and afford sweeping view of the coastline of Pacifica. Captain of these prosperous restaurants is Nick Gust, who invites you to also visit his Nick's Restaurant and Lounge, located only a few steps away. It's a known fact that Nick's has been one of the central meeting spots in Pacifica for scores of local business establishments. For prompt results, plan ahead with reservations if you're doing something special for the Holidays.

Summer,Winter, Spring, Fall, No Menu Problem

Summer, winter, spring and fall — the menu at Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant has 'em all. Wintry weather fills the air, but that doesn't phase the chefs at this popular San Mateo restaurant. You'll find piping hot dishes served during both luncheon and dinner, including the ever-popular minestrone, served daily. The entire restaurant offers a delightful climate of cordiality. Tantalizing aromas of entrees being prepared, and the sound of happy customer conversation are welcoming features . . . Norma Balagtas has returned to San Francisco's Mabuhay Gardens Supper Club, an excellent family restaurant. The sensational Filipino star appears in two shows nightly, along with the Four Jays, Wednesdays through Sundays. This is a popular spot for large gatherings celebrating special occasions. Banquet facilities to 250 persons . . . Valerian, the stylish pianist currently appearing in the lounge of Adrian Stickney's Shirt Tail in Palo Alto, also owns his own record company. His first album, now released, features several popular favorites often requested by patrons. Two more albums are forth coming.

Ormsby House Invites You to Dominique's

One reason the formula in the posh Dominique's Supper Club at Ormsby House Hotel in Carson City works so well is because they have discovered that people still like to dance cheek-to-cheek. Besides a pleasing blend of good food, the danceable music of Lenny Herman and his "Mightiest Little Band in the Land" is a big attraction. Tony Soraci, his pianist and singer appear in the Mark Twain Casino Lounge through the end of the year . . . Enrico Romano tells the story about a long-time customer of his Italian restaurant, located in picturesque Rockaway Beach, Pacifica, who came in one night with a pizza from a rival restaurant. After showing the pizza to Enrico, the customer promptly gave it a heave ho and ordered one of the pizzas which has made Romano's Italian restaurant one of the great gathering spots on the Coastside . . . For a memorable dining experience, order the Beef Wellington at Phil Lehr's Steakery in downtown San Francisco. It's a fork-tender filet mignon topped with chicken liver pate and a peach half, baked to perfection in a flakey pastry shell.

Breakfast and Floor Show, Tiki Garden

"Night Owls" looking for breakfast and a floor show after the 2 a.m. closing hour will find exactly that at Frank Martinelli's Tiki Garden in San Mateo. This family Polynesian restaurant, overlooking the Parkside Lagoon, now remains open "after hours" on Friday and Saturdays (2 a.m. to 4 p.m.) to serve breakfast, with a 3 a.m. floor show featuring lovely hula ladies dancing to Polynesian music. You'll dine in an atmosphere of the Islands, backdropped with waterfalls, fire pits and live flowers. Frank Martinelli will open his Tiki Garden on Thanksgiving Day serving a complete dinner, modestly priced. Three different shows will be featured, with the first slated for 4:30 p.m. Reservations are necessary An Italian feast you can't believe is available every Friday night in the Gold Coast restaurant at Holiday Inn, Belmont. General Manager Joe De Dio offers a splendid meal of Italian delights, such as spaghetti, meat balls, Italian-style fish, minestrone soup and a variety of salads. Served buffet style, dinner includes dessert and a glass of red wine

Tanforan Park Set For Xmas Shoppers

Christmas shoppers at San Bruno's Tanforan Park Shopping Center are in for a treat if they stop by the Donut World. One of nine Garden Restaurants located on the shopping center's lower level, Donut World is famed for its variety of sweets, including donuts, rolls and maple bars. A large selection is available, as well as favored beverages. Donut World is a busy shopper's haven during the Holiday season . . . . In case you've ever wondered why so many television and radio stars make Christopher's in San Mateo one of their "must stops", the answer comes easy. Co-owner Ed Murphy's brother Bob is the producer of the Merv Griffin TV Show. The latest celebrity duo seen dining here is talented Cal Tjader and his Mrs., Pat. Speaking of producing, Ed Murphy and his partner Tom Chigas do a mighty fine job merchandising their tantalizing Italian submarine sandwiches during the luncheon and afternoon coffee breaks. Breakfast and luncheon served daily, except Sunday . . . . Earlybirds are already making reservations for Thanksgiving dinner at Lehr's Greenhouse garden restaurant in San Francisco. It's a beautiful setting for Holiday dining with blooming flowers, exotic tropical plants and towering banana palm trees. Special Holiday dinners will be served noon to midnight.

Scotty Campbell's Is "Home Port" for Stars

If you're taking in the theater this weekend, a grand way to start off the evening is with dinner at Scotty Campbell's, a Redwood City dinner house which has won many awards for excellence in cuisine, service and hospitality. Totie Fields and her midget friend, Patty (she's 3' 2" and 58 pounds of "shadow"), and Peter Marshall and his beautiful wife were recent diners at Scotty Campbell's during their headline engagements at Circle Star Theater. Dinner service on Thanksgiving Day will be from 4 p.m. and a traditional turkey dinner will be featured (fresh turkey, not frozen). Included will be sweet potatoes, co-owner Mary Lou's own special recipe for turkey dressing, and pumpkin pie with whipped cream topping. The regular menu of entrees will also be available. There are two fireplaces blazing away on these chilly nights to warm the hearts of diners, plus soft overhead lighting and little tuilip lamps on each table which have the Tiffany look. Of special interest are the antique fireplace screens, one of which is said to be of the George Washington period, used as table dividers.

Mexican Art at Octagon Gallery

A unique exhibit of Mexican contemporary art of today opened to the public in Daly City's Octagon Gallery, Nov. 14.

The exhibit, representing nine artists from the State of Jalisco, Mexico, includes 34 prints, ink drawings, watercolors and woodcuts.

The art will be shown through Dec. 2 at the gallery in Daly City's Civic Center.

The show is sponsored by the San Mateo County Arts Council, Hughes Airwest, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency in Washington, D.C.

"Special care was taken to select art that blends the age-old influences of Aztecs and Indians with modern skills and techniques," said Bill Nemoyten, Executive Director of the Arts Council.

The exhibit was first shown in Corridor Gallery in Redwood City in September. After the North County show in Octagon Gallery, the 34 works will go to Hughes Airwest's headquarters in San Mateo for three weeks before going on its tour of the Western States with the Western Association of Art Museums.

The art was selected by Kent Seavey, former Gallery Director of the San Mateo County Arts Council, Vince Rascon, art instructor of the College of San Mateo, and Juan Francisco Gonzalez, Director of the Fine Arts Department of Jalisco.

Seavey said the exhibit was created through a rare combination of art supporters and business.

"Our main objective was to obtain representative art that is produced by respected artists from the State of Jalisco," said Seavey.

He said the exhibit would not have been possible without the assistance of Hughes Airwest, the National Endowment for the Arts, the Fine Arts Department of Jalisco, and the support of the San Mateo County Arts Council.

After the exhibit at the Hughes Airwest headquarters in San Mateo, the show will go to Cuesta College in San Luis Obispo.

Alice Faye Tops in His Book

By JACK BIK

"When I was 9, growing up in Florida, I saw an Alice Faye movie one Saturday."

That was the turning point of his life, as Frank Moshier, English teacher at Millbrae's Taylor Intermediate School, tells how he developed his life-long obsession for the former movie star.

He told his story the other day to the San Bruno-Millbrae Kiwanis Club. He carried with him copies of his recently published book, "The Films of Alice Faye," now on the stands of book shops throughout the country.

The film he saw, at the age of 9, was "Old Chicago," climaxed by an exciting 20-minute fire scene.

"As a child, I was mesmerized by her on the screen. From that point on, it was love at first sight. I saw every film she made six to eight times."

He now owns the only collection in existence of all 33 films that Alice Faye has made. Even 20th Century, which produced her films, does not have a complete file.

Moshier shows her films once a month to members of his movie club.

When he began teaching, he became determined to write a book on Miss Faye. When his research finally reached the point where he exhausted his resources, he decided that he had to meet her. He visited her in Southern California in 1970 where she was residing in retirement.

"Why me?" she asked him.

"She is very unassuming," Moshier reports. "She does not like being a famous star . . . and the kind of life that goes with it."

When Moshier completed his book, he could not find a publisher.

"It won't sell 25 copies," Moshier said one publisher told him.

"That made me mad," Moshier declared. "I was determined to publish the book whether I made a nickel or not."

As a result, he got together with a friend who is a typesetter and published the book himself. The friend, he commented, "had no idea of what he was getting into. He just wanted 12 copies of the finished book in payment."

By the time the book was completed — with expensive colored pictures, and a cover embossed with Alice Faye's signature — the book cost him $5,000 for just 1,000 copies. He set the price at $7.50, and started to sell it to his various contacts, including his friends and a few independent book stores. Within a few months, the stock sold out, and he made $3,000 profit.

The lucky purchasers of that edition, he noted, now have collectors' items which will be valued at $150 to $200 apiece within 20 years.

"My happiest day," Moshier reports, "was when Alice Faye came to San Francisco to visit Mrs. Lefty O'Doul and invited me to join her."

She saw the first copies of the book and Moshier said she was amazed. She has since purchased over 600 copies of the book and given a copy to every person she ever came into contact with during her film career.

Moshier said a Southern California literary agent approached him and asked whether he wanted to sell the book to a publisher. He consented, and it is now on the stands throughout the country as "The Alice Faye Movie Book," selling at $9.95.

Moshier tells in his book how Alice Faye has propsered in acting, unlike many thespians. She brought her parents, brothers and sisters from New York to Los Angeles when she became a star. Her older brother dropped over to the studio every Friday to pick up her check.

He invested it, and put Miss Faye on an allowance. As a result, she owns several square blocks in Beverly Hills.

"She never finds herself wanting for money," Moshier said.

However, she is no longer retired. Although she will be 60 next May, she is starring in the successful stage play, "Good News." He likes to think that it was his encouragement that gave her the confidence to go on the stage.

"And people bring my book backstage for her to sign," he adds.

Moshier expects to fly to New York soon to appear on a television show with Miss Faye. She has consented to appear to help plug the book.

Meanwhile, he is busier than ever — writing his next book. His new subject? Carmen Miranda.

Christmas Bureau Starts Drive Early

Inflation and lay-offs mean empty tables and stockings this Christmas, the Christmas Bureau of San Mateo County indicated this week as it stepped up an early appeal for donations of money, toys and food.

It expects to have to meet needs larger than last year, when 2,000 qualified households received Christmas food and 10,000 children were given toys, a spokesman said.

Mostly what the Christmas Bureau, a non-profit service agency, needs is money — to buy food for the aged and poor, and to buy toys in wholesale lots.

It stretches its dollars by making wholesale purchases, by donation of service space, and by volunteer workers.

Those wishing to give should send their donations — tax deductible in any amount — to the Volunteer Bureau of San Mateo County, 119 Primrose Road, Burlingame.

Information is available at the office on donating toys, contributing food, "adopting" a family for Christmas, and lining up Christmas projects by scout or civic groups. The Christmas House and Volunteer Bureau are listed in phone directories or with information.

Choirs at Serramonte

Serramonte Shopping Center in Daly City annually invites church, civic and school acappella choirs to sing on the Mall during the holiday season.

Groups will be scheduled this week through Dec. 20. Both daytime and evenings hours are available on a first come basis.

Groups interested in performing Christmas and holiday music are invited to contact Donna Lee Henderson at Serramonte Center from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. daily, phone 992-8686 or 992-4416.

SSFUSD Minority Enrollment Up

By JACK BIK

In a period when total enrollment has fallen off slightly, minority enrollment of the South San Francisco Unified Schol District has shot up by almost a thousand students, Supt. Paul Nielsen reported to the Board of Trustees last week.

Enrollment at the county's largest school district experienced its first decline this year, going down from 13,406 to 13,260 students. In 1972, enrollment was 13,358. Minority enrollment rose from 3,045 in 1972, to 3,644 last year, to 3,989 this year — from 23 to 30 per cent. In 1968, there were just 2,531 — or 19.4 per cent minority enrollment.

Dr. Nielsen warned that the figures are not guaranteed to be exact, due to the difficulty in correctly categorizing students. (Teachers determined the student's category from his or her name or by the child's apparent skin color or facial features, in reporting on the classrom make-up.

Leading minority are the students with Spanish surnames, making up 2,195 students — showing only a slight rise over the last seven years.

Fast coming up are the Asian-American students, who have risen from 569 in 1972 to 1,335 this year. This year's total includes 161 Samoans and 536 Filipinos, up from 115 Samoans and 369 Filipinos last year.

This category also includes numerous other groups, including Indians, Koreans, Taiwanese, Chinese and Japanese.

Third most numerous minorities are the blacks, whose enrollment has been rising by 40 to 50 students a year, from 153 in 1968 to 409 this year.

Enrollment of American Indians is negligible. There are 50 such students this year, compared to 38 last year. There were 62 in 1968, rising to a high of 71 in 1970.

The report shows that the minority students are very unevenly spread throughout the district.

The South San Francisco district takes in parts of neighboring cities, and all grades, kindergarten through twelfth. It has the largest enrollment of any district in the county, with 22 schools.

Junipero Serra School, in the Daly City portion of the district, has the largest minority enrollment, with 46.8 per cent of its 509 students. This includes 153 Asian-Americans, 76 Spanish-surnamed students and nine blacks.

Martin School, in "old town" near Bayshore Freeway, has the second largest minority enrollment, with 42.4 per cent of its 401 students. It has 151 Spanish-surnamed. 17 Asian-Americans and two American Indians.

Foxridge School, in Westborough, has a 41 per cent minority enrollment. It has 73 Asian-Americans, 57 blacks and 19 Spanish surnames.

Westborough Junior High also has a 41 per cent minority enrollment, with 136 Asian-Americans, 131 Spanish surnames, 93 blacks and 13 American Indians.

On the other extreme is Buri Buri School, with an 11.7 minority enrollment, including 63 Spanish surnames, 13 Asian-American, one black and two American Indians.

The two high schools are about even in minority enrollment.

El Camino High has a 24.4 per cent minority enrollment, with 222 Spanish surnames, 110 Asian Americans, 18 blacks and three American Indians, South San Francisco High has more blacks, 53, plus 245 Spanish surnames, 120 Asian Americans and nine American Indians.

Planners Back Request to Upgrade Manor Plaza

A group of merchants wanting to upgrade the condition of Pacifica's Manor Plaza Shopping Center were told Wednesday night that they had the backing of the planning commission.

One commissioner verbally ripped into the center, saying it looked like it was riddled with violations.

The city staff was ordered to investigate the matter, and the planners agreed to place the item on the agenda in a month or two to get a progress report on those findings.

Jim Nesbit, manager of the Security Savings and Loan there and a member of the Pacific Manor Merchants Association, said he felt the situation was "bad enough to let you know what it's like." He suggested that the solution to the problems was in getting the various owners of the property to work with their tenants in making the needed improvements.

Nesbit said he and association President Hazel Billmire were going to meet with the owners to see what could be done. He said the Chamber of Commerce has agreed to act as a mediator between the two groups.

The merchants are responsible for the upkeep of the inside of their stores and for the signs on the outside. The owners' responsibilities are with the outside physical condition of the stores in the center.

It was the outside conditions that prompted Nesbit and City Planning Technician Rob Robinson to bring the matter to the commissioners' attention at the Wednesday study session. Robinson showed slides of the center that pointed out the poor conditions.

AMONG HIS observations:

"The major sign in the parking lot advertising the shopping center is an "eyesore from the freeway." Twelve smaller signs are attached, indicating individual businesses in the center, but the lights on all but one were burned out.

"There is lack of uniformity on the signs on each business, and one has a clutter of three different signs on it.

"There is poor lighting in the archways above the stores. Some of the fixtures are broken, and others are without bulbs.

"The green poles that support the canopy that hangs over all the stores is in bad condition, and need a paint job. He pointed out that the poles do not go into the ground, but rest on the surface of the sidewalk.

"Graffiti is scribbled on the walls of some of the businesses.

"The "R" in the liquor sign of a market in the center is half missing.

"The planters along the roadway are not maintained.

"There is debris piled behind the stores.

After viewing the slides, Commissioner Eleanor McGuire said that the center seemed to be "riddled with violations and should be inspected and cited immediately."

Although it was finally decided that owners and merchants could find a way to make the improvements, the commmissioners agreed to send a letter to the owners showing their support for any attempt to upgrade the center.

Meanwhile, Nesbit said he was trying to generate more involvement in the issue. Only 12 of 40 merchants in the plaza attended a recent association meeting.

Besides the large number of merchants, there are at least 14 owners, adding to the difficulty of bringing everyone together to discuss the problems.

THE PERFECT HOST

Charles Krug Chenin Blanc, 5th
Wente Grey Riesling 5th

Your Thanksgiving meal deserves the luxury of truly fine wines. Two excellent choices are Charles Krug Chenin Blanc and Wente Grey Riesling. Either of these wines will be on the best terms with your turkey, stuffing, and cranberry sauce.

Charles Krug Chenin Blanc wine will appeal to those who prefer a medium dry wine with a rich fruity taste. Wente Grey Riesling, in contrast, is a more dry white wine with a delightfully fragrant aroma. The taste of this pleasing wine can be described as soft and mild.

A three hour chilling period is recommended for either of these hosts.

Charles Krug Chenin Blanc is $2.75 a fifth and Wente Grey Riesling is $2.50 a fifth.

'Toys for Tots' Drive Set

Santa Claus recently visited the Marine Corps Reserve Training Center, San Bruno, to obtain information from Gunnery Sgt. David Dreger concerning the reserve's annual "Toys for Tots" program.

Santa Claus was impressed with last year's results. The San Mateo County Marines, working with local business and civic groups, collected over 5,000 new and used toys which were turned over to the San Mateo Christmas Bureau for distribution to needy children.

Santa Claus noted that this will be the thirteenth drive conducted in San Mateo County. If the coming campaign is as successful as those in past years, a lot of needy children will be happy this Christmas making his job a lot easier.

While "Toys for Tots" came to San Mateo County only 13 years ago as an annual Christmas campaign, the toy drive began in 1947 in Los Angeles as a local community effort of Marine reservists in that city.

As years passed, other Marine Reserve units started "Toys for Tots" campaigns in their hometown areas until today, Marine reserve units are spearheading toy drives in over 200 cities in 45 of the 50 states. Over 5,000,000 toys are collected annually.

The Marines will launch their annual "Toys for Tots" campaign on Nov. 24 at "Marine World, Africa USA" and will continue collecting toys throughout San Mateo County and the Bay Area until Dec. 22. Merchants who will be assisting the Marines this year include: your local Honda motorcycle dealer, Tanforan shopping center, Hillsdale shopping center, and many local fire departments.

Marines have asked that toys be left at any location displaying the "Toys for Tots" barrel. If you are not sure where the barrels are located, you are asked to call the Marines at (415) 588-7548 and ask for Gunnery Sgt. Dreger.

DAR to Meet in Millbrae

The members of San Andreas Lake Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will meet Thursday at the Millbrae home of Mrs. Thomas F. Meagher for a 12:30 dessert luncheon and program.

The program, "National Defense in 1974," will be presented by the state national defense chairman, Mrs. Carl S. Doney, a member of California Chapter, DAR.

Four members of San Andreas Lake Chapter were recently appointed by Mrs. Everett E. Jones state regent, to serve for the 1974-76 term.

They are: Mrs. Bernard Schiller, Foster City, as state chairman of public relations; Mrs. Grady M. The following eligible women have been invited by San Andreas Lake to become members of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Mrs. Elmer Hitchcock, South San Francisco; Mrs. Nick P. Colichidas, Daly City, and Mrs. Eleanor Warlaumont, Foster City.

For information, any eligible woman may call the Chapter Registrar, Mrs. Rowland H. Wilford, 342-6081, or Mrs. Bernard Schiller, 341-4020.

17th PTA District Meeting

The 17th District, California PTA will meet from 9:30 to noon today at the CTA Building, 1705 Murchison Drive, Burlingame.

The featured speaker will be Dr. George Pickett, director of San Mateo County Health and Welfare Department, who, along with members of his staff, will speak on such topics as "Health Services Available in the County," "How to Secure Health Services," "Schools/Community Children's Mental Health Partnership."

A progress report on a health education survey distributed to all unit presidents in October will be given.

Other business to be presented by President Jean Colby will include a report on State Board of Managers November meeting; discussion of returning the district dinner to the calendar; vote to decide on college district's use of 17th District's mailing list of unit presidents for community service announcements.

After the regular meeting there will be a special session, with brown bag lunch, from 12 to 2 p.m. for council presidents, coordinating committee chairmen, 17th District officers, directors and chairmen. This special session will consist of a question and answer period, department meetings, and mini-PTA sessions.

Garden Club Sets Holiday Program

The annual holiday program for the San Bruno Garden Club will be held Thursday at 8 p.m. at the Decima Allen School auditorium.

The school is located at Elm and Angus Avenues in San Bruno, directly behind the library and City Hall.

Mrs. Jake Ventrello will speak.

Mrs. Ventrello is well known for her artistic arrangements in the San Mateo County Fiesta, the Tanforan Flower Show and many other shows. She is also a instructor for the recreation departments in South San Francisco and San Mateo.

She is past president of the Hilltoppers Garden Club, co-chairman of the Tanforan Show, a past chairman of the Bay Ocean District and an active worker for the San Mateo County Center.

She has studied under Jack Daniels, Ron Morgan and Mrs. Gertrude Labhard, in the years since she came from New Mexico.

The show is open to the public at no charge. However, seating is limited so guests are urged to be on time.

Chairman of the show is Mrs. Al Marty, to be assisted by the Mmes. Ray Kirk, William Knill and Charles Kunz.

A small boutique is also planned, under the direction of Mrs. DeWitt Samora.

Hand made items, baked goods, plants and dry material will be offered for sale at low prices.

There also will be a drawing for several large hand made items, with those proceeds earmarked for the San Bruno Garden Club philanthropic programs.

The San Bruno Garden Club is a member of Bay-Ocean District, California Garden Clubs, Inc.

Two Business Meetings Set

Two business organizations — the Mission Merchants Association and Greater Daly City Chamber of Commerce — will hold meetings tomorrow.

The Mission Merchants will meet at the House of Parties on Hillcrest Drive (Central Business District) at which time they will also hold an election for new officers.

The Chamber meeting will be held at Toto's Restaurant, 1913 Junipero Serra Blvd., with guest speaker Paul Marshall, consultant to the chamber giving a progress report on the reorganization of tne Chamber

Norm Snead Trade

Space problems prevented an instant analysis of the 49er trade for Norm Snead, but better late than never. Our message here is, don't underestimate him just because he's 35 years old and apparently a pick-up. Or at least, that's what our message would have been had we been able to print it on the day of the trade. As you know by now, it wouldn't have been a bad message. You're going to have to take our word for it that we didn't wait until Snead had had a couple of pretty good days with the 49ers to develop the statement.

Actually, predicting some effectiveness on Snead's part wouldn't have been much of a prediction, anyway. As recently as 1972, he led the NFL in completion percentage (60.3), has twice in his 13 year career passed for better than 3,000 yards, and even though he's thrice led the NFL in interceptions, remember that he's rarely worked behind a line that gave him good protection (which is still his problem with the 49ers). Nor did he have outstanding receivers (which isn't his trouble with the 49ers). Actually, Snead's had 5.9 per cent of his pass attempts intercepted, whereas Steve Spurrier's had 6.5 per cent of his passes interrupted on their way to intended receivers.

Rating the efficiency of passers can be trickey, controversial and complex, but one rather simple rule of thumb for efficiency is yards gained per pass attempt. Snead has a lifetime mark of 7.13, which would rate him much above average. Spurrier's is 6.5. Snead also ranks ahead of other such top NFL quarterbacks as Billy Kilmer (7.01), Bob Griese (7.05), Jim Plunkett (6.52), Terry Bradshaw (6.25), Mike Phipps (6.22), Randy Johnson (6.42) . . . Charley Johnson is even with Snead), Roman Gabriel (6.74), Jim Hart (6.91), Bill Munson (6.51), and Archie Manning (6.26), to name several. As a matter of fact, the latest edition of the Encyclopedia of Football ranks Snead seventh in all-time ratings on all-around efficiency. Only Johnny Unitas, Fran Tarkenton, John Brodie, Sonny Jurgensen, John Hadl and Y. A. Tittle rank above him.

WHILE WE'RE TALKING about outstanding quarterbacks, please note above that Fran Tarkenton ranks only behind Johnny Unitas in all-around passing efficiency, at least as it's figured in that complicated way by the NFL. As we said in a column last year, Tarkenton has got to be the most underrated passer of all time. Whenever he's talked about with any reverance at all, it's about his scrambling, it seems. And don't say, well, it's just those screwy rating systems the pros use. We all know that Sonny Jurgensen, or John Brodie or Y. A. Tittle were better "pure" passers than Tarkenton. If that's so, then why is it that Tarkenton also holds more "pure" passing records than anybody except Unitas? It won't do any good to argue that Tarkenton's done it just because he's been around so long, either, because nobody's been around as long as Jurgensen, and hardly anybody lasted as long as Brodie or Tittle. Already this season Tarkenton has pulled ahead of Brodie behind Unitas in passes attempted and passes completed, and before the season started, he was behind only Unitas in yards gained passing and touchdown passes. Unitas had 40,239 to Tarkenton's 33,248 yards gained, and 290 TD passes to Tarkenton's 249.

Those figures might seem insurmountable for Tarkenton, but remember that Unitas played 18 years and that Tarkenton is in only his 14th season. Also keep in mind that by his 14th season Unitas was already compiling some of the injuries which were to make his last few years relatively unproductive, while the amazing Tarkenton is apparently nowhere near shopworn. Considering his relatively slight frame and all of the hits he's taken, especially during his real scrambling days, Tarkenton is an amazing physical specimen. He must know how to fall.

BUT TO RETURN to our thesis. If Tarkenton manages to avoid any crippling injuries — as he has done — and passes with the same average efficiency as he has each previous year of his career he will pass Unitas' total yardage record somewhere at about mid-season of his 16th year, and the TD record near the end of that same year. All that, and Tarkenton has rarely had the supporting casts that Unitas had. Don't get us wrong. We're not downgrading Unitas, merely pointing out the often ignored passing talents of Tarkenton. After all, Unitas does still hold most of the records, three times led the NFL in total completions, four times in yards gained (and went over the 3,000 mark three times and just missed on two other occasions), led four times in TD passes (in a row), twice in all-around passing efficiency, and once in passing percentage. Tarkenton, surprisingly enough, has never led in anything for a season.

Other lifetime comparison stats for the two greats: passing percentage, Tarkenton 55.3, Unitas 54.6; percentage of interceptions, Unitas 4.9, Tarkenton 5.6; number of yards gained per pass attempt, Unitas 7.76, Tarkenton 7.47; yards gained per completion, Tarkenton 13.5, Unitas 14.2.

If Tarkenton does beat some of Unitas' major records, for sure, it will be because he will last long enough (as Unitas did), and because, at least thus far, he has been more durable. But what better test of greatness, after all, than durability?

WHAT AT LEAST some of the above may prove is that a great quarterback isn't as important to a team's success as many suppose. Tarkenton has seldom made his teams consistent winners, while Unitas apparently always did. Had Unitas been with Tarkenton's teams, would they have been perennial winners? We think not.

We think that a really solid football team needs only an adequate, at most simply a capable quarterback, as seemed to be the case with the Green Bay Packers and Bart Starr. Gad, we hate to mention this for fear of hurting the feelings of certain primma donnas, but at times, it may even have been that the teams made the quarterbacks!

MISCELLANY, LEFT-OVERS: Eddie Alexander, KRON-TV's sports director, reached the heights of something when he said, on the eve of the Stanford-USC game, "Stanford has a good chance if their offense can move and their defense can stop the Trojan offense." For that he gets a title and expert's wages?

Stats to win bar bets with: Who had the second best team ERA in the AL? The Yankees, which explains why they were able to almost take it all with some of their best position players injured and/or having their worst years . . . Who was the leading major league base stealer this past season among catchers? Fran Healy, of K.C., who copped 16 . . . How many rookies were on the regular Cub roster this year? 13 . . . Who was better in relief, Rollie Fingers or Paul Linblad? Linblad. Look it up . . .

Why is it that whenever a special team's coach (the guy who handles the kicking and return teams) does a good job, he's "promoted" to another coaching position on the team, and then another new coach is brought in to handle the coaching job which is evidently considered lowest on the organizational totem poll. Frequently the special teams suffer because of the continuous changes. If special teams are as important as head coaches keep saying they are, why aren't special teams coaches allowed to stay on their jobs to hone the expertise they can develop?

Logjam for Second Place

Records Fall in NPL Finales

By JERRY LITTRELL
Post Correspondent

On a day designed strictly for the record, it was only fitting that a couple fell as North Peninsula League football action came to a close for 1974.

South San Francisco remained undefeated with a narrow win over Jefferson, but two upsets threw the rest of the teams into a five-way tie for second place, all with 4-3 records.

Serramonte upended El Camino, 26-14, while Oceana downed Westmoor by the same score. Terra Nova blanked winless Half Moon Bay, 17-0, leaving TN, EC, Serramonte, Oceana and Westmoor deadlocked for runner-up honors.

South SF 14, Jeffersop 6

Two passing records were set in this weird finale which saw neither team field its most productive back and Jefferson almost pull an upset.

The first time the Warriors left the confines of Clifford Field was a near disaster, as the Indians became the first NPL team since anyone can remember to totally blank the Warrior running game. South City, which had only two yards rushing by halftime, had a minus four in the second half and wound up a minus two on the day.

On the plus side was the performance of Indian ace Frank Duncan, who caught 10 passes Friday for a new conference record of 39 receptions, one over the old record held by another Jefferson end, Gary Lindsey.

Warrior quarterback Frank Cesarz now holds the conference record of 11 touchdown passes, one over the old record by HMB's Jerry Mullins in 1967.

For three quarters no one came close to scoring. Jeff's best runner, Rich Huertas, wasn't in uniform and SSF's injured junior ace, Tali Ena, didn't play until midway through the second half and had just four carries. His fumble just before the third quarter ended set the stage for Jeff's lone score.

The Indians, using freshman halfback Jim Tate in Huertas' place, took the ball 39 yards in 11 plays with quarterback Mark Rudd diving over from the one as the final period opened.

Down 6-0, SSF suddenly broke the ice when senior Jeff Yock took the Indian kickoff and raced 95 yards to quickly tie it up. The Cesarz found end Jim Selvitella from the 19 with 4:36 remaining to put this regular season away unspoiled for Warrior fans.

Serramonte 26, El Camino 14

Junior fullback Skip Campbell powered over on three touchdown runs in the first half and the Regents easily handled the Colts for the first time in the school's history.

Serramonte was up 26-0 as early as the half and as late as midway through the final quarter. Lester Payne's 27-yard interception return ended the outburst for Jack Thur's first winning varsity season.

Serramonte kept the Colts from getting a first down until the third period, intercepted three passes and picked up two fumbles. A three-play goal line stand which began on the one-foot line and also ended there kept Camino from gaining any momentum going into the locker room at half.

Oceana 26, Westmoor 14

Calvin Ellison's most productive day of the year sparked Oceana to its upset over the visiting Rams. Ellison carried for 230 yards in 29 attempts and scored the final touchdown as he won top ground-gaining honors for the season.

Art Picolotti got the Sharks off right away with a 28-yard pass reception from Lenny Sanchez.

Westmoor's only scores came on two TD passes from Harold Day to Rick Wyatt, one a 16 and the other a 14-yarder.

Terra Nova 14, Half Moon Bay 0

Rich Stratfull and Dave Matas scored on short bursts as Terra Nova ended in that second-place logjam with a shutout over the winless Cougars.

Stratfull scored from the one and Matas from the two after sustained drives in the first and third periods.

Chabot Rally Downs Bulldogs

By FRED BAER
Post Correspondent

College of San Mateo's football team will play a waiting game this week—but not quite the type they had planned.

Last Friday night's 19-12 CSM loss to the comeback efforts of rival Chabot deprived the Bulldogs of an automatic cochampionship and the Golden Gate Conference state playoff berth they could have claimed with a San Jose loss in this Friday's finale with Laney.

CSM, at 6-2, is still mathematically tied for the league lead with 12 points, same as San Jose (6-1), while Chabot is 5-1-1 (for 11 points). But San Mateo draws a bye next week while the other two schools have an opportunity to drop the Bulldogs to third in the final standings.

San Mateo could still share the title, but the two season losses to San Jose and Chabot cancel any chance of a return to the State playoffs, where CSM was third last year.

Although 31 points were scored Friday night in Hayward, there was only one offensive touchdown.

The two teams wound up in a pro-style kicking dual, making six of eight field goal attempts — including four straight by state leader Steve La Plant of CSM.

La Plant split the uprights from 33, 37, 29 and 28 yards for all of San Mateo's points and a GGC record 15 of 20 field goals for the season.

The first two boots gave the Bulldogs a 6-0 halftime lead. But Chabot started the second half by marching 77 yards in 12 plays (plus three penalties) to go ahead 7-6 following Don Carstensen's fourth down, ten-yard pass to Tom Ferguson — who was standing all alone between the goal posts. (CSM coaches felt Ferguson was behind the posts, and therefore out of bounds.)

Rich Volonte's extra point — and a 27-yard field goal on Chabot's next series, put the Gladiators on top 10-6 before La Plant's next two three-pointers changed it around to 12-10 with 9:53 left. Chabot came right back with Volonte booting a 30-yarder with 6:35 to go for the winning points.

CSM's final efforts were spoiled by three interceptions and a lost fumble after not making a turnover to that point. Chabot's Dick Jones returned his seventh interception of the year 26 yards for the final touchdown, with 21 seconds left.

Earlier Bill Popin and Dan Howry each picked off a pair of Gladiator aerials to kill Chabot threats. Glad quarterbacks threw 48 passes and completed but 18 but CSM was only nine of 27.

Mitty Star Stops Padres

By STEVE JOHNSON

Serra High's football team expected to be in tough against unbeaten Mitty Friday night at Santa Clara's Buck Shaw Stadium.

The Padres were only too right.

Mitty relentlessly swept to an amazing 46-7 annihilation of Serra in what had figured to be a close matchup of two of the Central Coast Section's top teams.

The loss cost the Padres, 7-2 overall and 3-2 in the West Catholic Athletic League, a shot at the loop title and CCS playoff position. Mitty is 9-0 and 5-0.

The evening belonged to Mitty senior tailback Paul Jones, one of the best players ever to come out of the WCAL.

Jones, who combines the best qualities of a champion race horse and diesel locomotive, rolled up an incredible 358 yards on 44 carries and scored three times.

Jones, working behind an excellent offensive line, ran both inside and outside of a Serra defense that had been more than adequate in previous games.

Serra lost a fumble at midfield at the end of the first quarter just when it appeared the Padres were gaining some momentum.

Mitty moved from there to the first score of the game early in the second quarter. And never let up.

Serra's offense, averaging over 30 points a game before running into the Monarchs, was stymied almost completely until after things had been settled.

The Padres avoided their first shutout in three years with 20 seconds left in the final period when Jim Freitas fired a 19-yard TD strike to John Caselli.

Freitas' 89 yards passing put him just under the 2,000 mark for the season.

Daly City Recreation

Girls' Kickball League Opens

In the opening week of action of the Daly City Recreation Department third and fourth grade division Girls Kickball League, there were two games played. In the first game, the Olympians beat Holy Angels 50 to 1 and the Spinners edged St. Thomas Moore 20 to 19 in an action-packed game.

The second week of play began with the Olympians and St. Thomas More battling to a 23 to 23 tie. In that game, the lead changed hands several times and was filled with action both offensively and defensively.

Sandra Arata, Stacy Hutchinson and Cathy Garvey were the kicking stars for the Olympians and Sheri Brandt and Diane Carrara played well for St. Thomas More.

In game two, the SAL Spinners defeated Holy Angles 36 to 19. Lori Valls and Gina Jasen combined their hitting and defense to gain game honors in this offensive battle.

The regular season play of the third and fourth grade Girls Kickball League concluded last week and set the stage for this week's playoffs.

In the final week of action, the SAL Spinners concluded an undefeated season by thumping the OLM Olympians 41 to 9. Coach Melody Clarke credited the win to outstanding defensive play by all the girls. In other fourth grade action, Holy Angels upset St. Thomas More for their first win of the season.

Standings

OLM Olympians	1	1	1
Holy Angels	1	2	1
St. Thomas More	0	2	1

In opening week action of the fifth and sixth division, the OLM Olympians and Holy Angels battled to an 11-11 tie. The game was filled with excellent offensive and defensive plays by both teams. The other game matched the SAL Sidekicks against St. Thomas More. The Sidekicks combined potent offense and near perfect defense in defeating St. Thomas More 23-5.

Week number two matched St. Thomas More and OLM and Holy Angeles and SAL. In the OLM-St. Thomas More game, OLM out-kicked St. Thomas More 22-7 behind the strong efforts of Molly McGrat and Betsy Syme. In the second game, the SAL Sidekicks won their second straight game, defeating Holy Angeles 13-6. All the SAL girls played well, and Michelle Hyland of Holy Angles played exceptionally well on defense to keep Holy Angels close.

The final week of regulation play was filled with action and exceptional play. The OLM sidekicks defeated the OLM Olympians 22-19 in extra innings. The Sidekicks scored five runs in the top of the last inning on a grand slam homerun by Debbie Fisher and then held OLM scoreless in the bottom of the inning to send the game into overtime. In the next inning, SAL started just where they left off the previous inning and scored five more runs to hold off the stubborn OLM team. Debbie Fisher, along with her grand slam, kicked two other homeruns to pace the winners.

In other league action, Holy Angles defeated St. Thomas 19-13. The game was filled with action, and the see-saw battle saw the lead change five times. The Holy Angel Coach attributed the win to a great team effort.

Standings

SAL Sidekicks	3	0	0
Holy Angels	1	1	1
OLM Olympians	1	1	1
St. Thomas More	0	3	0

The first week of the sixth grade division ended with the Colma Corvettes and the St. Thomas More Saints. The Corvettes won their game over OLPH on a forfeit. The Saints showed a powerful offense and excellent defense in beating the Olympians from OLM, 23-6.

In the second week of action, only one game was played, and in record time between two very good teams. The Colma Corvettes defeated OLM 6-4 for their second win without a defeat.

Coach Andy Themoleas of the Corvettes said his team played very well. The Saints won by forfeit over OLPH to put them in a tie for the first with the Corvettes. Both teams are 2 and 0.

In the final game of the regular season, the two first place teams met. The St. Thomas More Saints edged the Colma Corvettes 7-4. Both teams played excellent defense, but the difference was in the kicking of Terri Brandt and Kim Porter of the Saints. The Olympians got their first win of the year as OLPH forfeited to them.

Retirement Planning

Mrs. Raymond Schnapp (center), Friends of the Daly City Library treasurer, and Samuel Chandler (left), city librarian, are reminded by Mrs. James Hough, The Friends' vice president, of the second in a 3-part free evening series entitled "Kick the Work Habit with Retirement Planning" which will be given by Stephen Chios of the Retirement Counselling Corporation on the subject of early and late retirement. Real estate investments will be discussed at the Westlake public library from 7-9 p.m. on the final evening, Nov. 26. Mrs. John Connolly, president, invites the public to attend. This is the last of the series.

Brisbane Bus Fleet Launched

Brisbane Mayor Anja Miller and San Mateo County Supervisor James Fitzgerald Monday launched that bayside city's fleet of two minibuses.

The Brisbane Transit Company is the Peninsula's newest bus service.

It will carry riders between city points south to San Francisco and north to the San Francisco county line where passengers may connect with muni services.

Two weeks ago, Brisbane asked Daly City for permission to run a "closed door" bus route through the city to connect with San Francisco buses.

There still has been no official reply from Daly City on this request.

The two buses, costing some $11,000 each, were scheduled to pick up riders in Brisbane and drop them at the Greyhound bus depot in South San Francisco

But on the first day of operations, the Greyhound lines were on strike.

Fares are 25 cents for adults and 15 cents for senior citizens and children under 16 years old.

Each bus holds 16 passengers.

Transit Board Candidates Sought

The County Board of Supervisors is seeking candidates with "expertise in the field of transportation" for appointment to the new San Mateo County Transit District Board of Directors.

Last week, the board authorized its executive officer, Eileen Kenyon, to meet with executives in County Manager M. D. Tarshes' office to prepare a newspaper advertisement seeking applications.

Formation of the transit district was approved two weeks ago by voters in the general election. It provides for a nine-member board of directors.

The board of Supervisors has three appointments — two board members who "shall pxsess expertise in the field of transportation."

Supervisor William H. Royer proposed preparation of the advertisement.

Supervisor Gerald F. Day contended that the board hadn't established the "level" of expertise that would be sought.

County Engineer S. H. Cantwell said it was his interpretation of the transit district legislation that there would be no hard and fast criteria for "expertise," that the board should seek applicants, ask them to describe why they feel they are experts, and then make a decision on the basis of the presentations.
